SMALL RALLY at the big Palm Springs Trailer Rally brought this group of Boles Aera Club trailerites, Burbank, together at Lenieu Village to discuss their planned January trailer cavalcade to Alcapulco. More than 30 trailer clubs are represented in the big Palm Springs Trailer Rally, solely sponsored by Villagers

this year. Palm Springs rally has attracted continent-wide trailer interest, with several thousand mobile visitors here annually to discuss plans and look at the latest in trailering. Stories on the 1961 Rally are on pages 10-A and 11-A today. (Desert Sun Photo)

MUTINOUS CONGO TROOP TRAPPED BY UN FORCES

Minuteman Launching Successful

Instant ICBM in Half-Ocean Flight Into Target Area

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — The Air Force today fired a Minuteman rocket from an underground launching tube to a target half an ocean away today to end a nine-month famine for the success-starved "instant ICBM."

The stubby white missile bolted from the concrete-lined silo in a spray of flame and smoke, and streaked into the blue sky a few seconds past 7:15 a.m. PST.

The Minuteman, tabbed as America's first pushbutton nuclear-tipped missile system, shot its instrumented nose cone into space at a speed of about 17,000 miles per hour.

Less than a half-hour later, the blunt nose dove back through earth's atmosphere and slammed into a target area a little less than 3,000 miles away in the Atlantic Ocean, it was reported.

The three-stage "instant ICBM" is scheduled to become war-ready in 1962. But before today, its only success was a 4,600-mile flight in its maiden shot last Feb. 1. That was followed by three trouble-plagued tests.

One went wild in the sky and was deliberately blown up. Another fell several hundred miles short of its goal when its engines cut off too soon. The last one, attempted Aug. 30, blew up in its launching silo and splattered flaming wreckage over the cape.

Today's shot was the second for Minuteman from the silo, a prototype of "hardened" sites designed to protect combat nuclear missiles which would hit the United States in a nuclear attack.

A total of 12 squadrons with 30 Minuteman rockets each are planned as a keystone to the nation's nuclear defense. The first squadron is scheduled to go on duty at Malmstrom Air Force Base near Great Falls, Mont.

Others will follow at Ellsworth Air Force Base, S.D., Hill AFB, Utah, Minot AFB, N.D., and Whiteman AFB, Mo.

Protest on Jet Shipping

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — A flotilla of picket boats and a band of demonstrators who repeatedly sang "God Bless America" peacefully protested the loading of five jet trainers aboard a Yugoslavian freighter today for shipment to the Communist country.

For five hours, the boats cruised in the harbor and about 100 sign-carrying pickets protested the continued shipment of surplus U. S. arms to Yugoslavia.

But the loading of the Navy-version T33 jet trainers went smoothly. After the freighter Gundulic tied up, most of the demonstrators moved away from the pier. Demonstrations were moved to downtown San Diego.

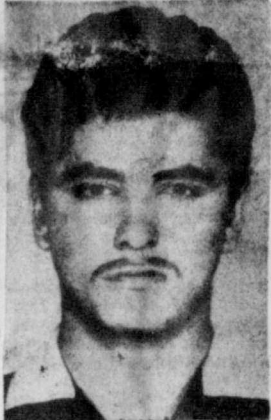

The small boats—about 20 of them—stayed out of the freighter's path. Members of the demonstrating group, called Patriots Unlimited, had said they would try to block its entry.

Coast Guard officials, who had warned against such action, patrolled the harbor with two extra cutters during the loading of the jets.

POINTING to where Maximello Ramirez, 22, stood when he caught the bullet that took his life, Carmillo Razo Calderon, 27, shows Chief of Police James Gourley, left, and Detective Ben Ramirez over the shooting scene. Calderon was booked on a charge of suspicion of murder in the Coachella shooting. The shooting occurred when Calderon attempted to halt a party which he claimed was keeping him from sleeping. (P.S. News-Photo)

Red Police Fire Shots

BERLIN (UPI) — Communist police today fired shots at a refugee attempting to flee to the American sector and then captured him, West Berlin police reported.

Police said the Communists fired four shots at a man on the border of the American sector district of Neukolln. He was not hit, but was nabbed by four Communist border guards as he tried to slip across the border under cover of darkness.

West Berlin police said seven persons escaped in the 24-hour period ending at 7 a.m. They included two brothers, 10 and 12, who crept through barbed wire to the British sector's Spandau District.

The youngsters told Western police that their mother and father, who tried to follow them through the barbed wire barricade, were arrested by Communist police.

Western police used tear gas to rout Communist policemen who threw stones over the wall separating East and West Berlin and broke two street lamps on Bernauer Street.

Father Killed in Fight over Rifle

By FRED C. WEIGEL

COACHELLA—A 27-year-old father of two small children was killed last night when a wild bullet was discharged from a .22 calibre rifle and struck him under the right arm.

Maximello Ramirez, Coachella, died at Casita Hospital in Indio last night, and Carmillo Calderon, 22, of 1351 7th St., was booked by Coachella police on a charge of suspicion of murder.

The shooting also led police to the arrest of three other persons, including Julia Calderon Lopez, 23, sister of the suspect, who was booked last night on charges of furnishing alcoholic beverages to minors.

Coachella Chief of Police James Gourley and Detective Ben Ramirez, who investigated the shooting, told the following story of the happenings which led to the killing of one man and the arrest of four persons.

Police were called in when a neighbor reported a disturbance of the peace at 611 4th street.

When they arrived at the scene they learned that Ramirez had been taken to Casita Hospital with a bullet wound under the right arm.

Further investigation showed that Calderon had become irritated over noise coming from his sister's apartment, located next door to his house, left the house carrying the .22 calibre rifle "to scare the people at the party and get them to leave," Ramirez told officers that he had to get up at 5 a.m. and that the noise was keeping him awake.

On leaving the house Calderon confronted Ramirez and, fighting over the rifle, he pushed Ramirez away from him hitting him with the rifle butt.

At this time, Joe Ortega, 22, of Indio drove up in a pickup truck and said, "What's going on?" Calderon fired a shot at the truck, hitting the door on the drivers side.

Ortega jumped from the car and started wrestling with Calderon over the gun. It discharged and the wild bullet hit Ramirez.

Mrs. Lopez and another girl took Ramirez to the hospital where he died.

When the police arrived at the scene they went to the apartment, where they found about a dozen people at a party. Two of them, Fortino Reyes, 18, and Robert Lares, 17, were arrested and charged with drunkenness when they tried to get away by climbing out a back window of the apartment.

Chief Gourley said that both boys have records. Reyes was on parole for a marijuana arrest, and Lares had been arrested for burglary and assault with a deadly weapon.

An autopsy will be held today on Ramirez to determine the cause of death.

Two Desert Men Die in Auto Crash

Two men, including a Palm Springs resident, were killed in a head-on crash early this morning on the Twentynine Palms highway, 69 feet west of Linda Lee Road.

Dead when the California Highway Patrol officers reached the scene of the accident shortly after 2 a.m. today were:

Laurence Aubrey Mansfield, 31, of 354 So. Calle Santa Rosa, Palm Springs.

Earl Edgar Ramey, 55, of Yucca Valley.

NEW WORLD SPEED RECORD SET ON P. SPRINGS COURSE

A new world's half-mile speed record was set in Palm Springs today when Andy Granatelli hit 145.63 mph driving a supercharged 1962 Chrysler 300 Series production hardtop sedan.

In setting the new world's record, the internationally famous driver broke his own record set less than two weeks ago when he reached 134.32 mph at Riverside International Raceway driving the same car.

Granatelli set the record before a group of 35 key West Coast auto writers in Palm Springs for a two-day press program conducted by the Chrysler - Plymouth Division of Chrysler Corporation.

The record was officially timed by the Southern California Timing Association, under the supervision of Thomas Bryant, president.

Granatelli is currently competing in the A-B - G class for gasoline burning standard passenger car coupes and sedans.

The Santa Monica racing enthusiast holds two other automobile world speed records set with Chrysler 300's. At Daytona Beach, Fla., last February, Granatelli obtained a top speed of 179.472 mph, and in Aug. 1961, at Bonneville, Utah, hit a top speed of 189.990 mph.

Congolese Massacred 13 Italians

Reinforcements Flown to Area as UN Starts Probe

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — United Nations troops today sealed airfields around Kindu to cut off any possible escape by mutinous Congolese soldiers who massacred 13 Italian airmen on a mercy mission.

Only United Nations planes, flying Malayan reinforcements into the area, were allowed use of the fields, a U.N. spokesman said.

Here in Leopoldville, the United Nations named Lt. Col. Bengt Lindeblad of Sweden, Lt. Col. Nil Borchgrevink of Norway and Alec Duncan-Smith of Britain to begin an investigation into the slaughter. The Congolese Central Government also will assign men to the joint investigation.

The United Nations rushed fresh Malayan troops to reinforce the 200-man Malayan garrison at Kindu under orders from Acting Secretary General Thant in New York.

One of the first things the investigators may look into is just what Antoine Gizenga, the left-wing strongman of Oriental Province, may have had to do with the slayings.

Gizenga's name has been mentioned repeatedly in connection with the incident but there has been no official confirmation that he played any part in it.

Pleads for More Troops
Maj. Gen. Sean McKeown of Ireland, commander of U.N. forces in the Congo, said in New York that Gizenga was not in the area when the massacre occurred. McKeown went to New York to plead for more troops and equipment.

But one source today said Gizenga, who is a vice premier in the central government, was in Kindu last Tuesday and saw Congolese Gen. Victor Lundula and Interior Minister Christopher Gbenye there.

Lundula had gone to Kindu to try to effect the release of the Italians. At that time it was not known they were dead. He was chased out by the mutinous Congolese soldiers.

Kindu is in Kivu Province, adjacent to Oriental. There are an estimated 200 Europeans in the city, but there were no indications they had been harmed.

The central government of Premier Cyrille Adoula was shocked and shaken by the Kandu massacre and previous instances of looting, pillaging and raping by undisciplined Congolese soldiers in Albertville and Luluabourg.

HEADS FOR PHOENIX

JFK Attack Against Extremists Still On

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—President Kennedy today was expected to continue his attack on American extremists who insist U.S.-Soviet differences can be settled only by war or surrender.

The Chief Executive was due to leave here today for Phoenix, Ariz., where he speaks late today at a dinner honoring 84-year-old Sen. Carl Hayden, D-Ariz., for his 50 years in Congress.

He leaves at 12 noon EST. Kennedy will spend tonight in Phoenix and fly Saturday morning to Bonham, Tex., for the funeral of House Speaker Sam Rayburn. After the funeral, the Chief Executive will fly westward again to Los Angeles and a mammoth Democratic fund-raising dinner there Saturday night.

Fast Losing Patience
The President made it abundantly clear in a speech at the University of Washington here late Thursday that he is fast losing patience with unthinking Americans "who cannot bear the burden of a long twilight struggle" and "lack of confidence in our long-run capacity to survive and succeed."

It was the 100th anniversary of the university and Kennedy spoke before a special academic convocation audience of an estimated 11,000 persons. Earlier he was given a cheering, paper-strewn welcome on the streets of Seattle as he paraded in an open car shortly after his jet flight from Washington.

Two Extremist Groups
In his speech, the President hammered at a central theme—the folly of expecting "some quick and easy and cheap solution" to current differences with the Communist nations. He divided "frustrated" extremists into two groups:

—Those who urge upon us what I regard to be the pathway to surrender—appeasing our enemies, compromising our honor, purchasing peace at any price, disavowing our arms, our friends, our obligations. If their view had prevailed, the world of free choice would be smaller today.

—Those who urged upon us what I regard to be the pathway to war: Equating negotiations with appeasement and substituting rigidity for firmness. If their views had prevailed, the world of free choice would be smaller today.

New Effort to Get Bonelli

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The state of California renewed efforts Thursday to get former state Board of Equalization member William G. Bonelli returned from Mexico.

Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk asked the U. S. State Department to again press for Bonelli's return. He is under indictment in San Diego and Riverside counties on charges of bribery.

Bonelli has been living in Mexico five years. A Mexican court denied a California extradition request in 1958 following a lengthy hearing, during which Bonelli was jailed in Mexico City.

Unemployment Level High As Worker's Pay Climbs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Non-farm employment and factory workers' earnings climbed to record highs in October, the Labor Department reported today.

Unemployment remained high, the report showed, but officials were cautiously optimistic it had begun to shrink.

The department said the number of nonfarm workers on payrolls climbed by 168,000 from September to 55,260,000. This was a new high which surpassed the pre-recession level.

Since the low point of the 1960-61 recession in February, non-farm payrolls have gone up by 2.7 million workers. This was more than one million in excess of the number normally expected for the period.

The growth has been mainly in services—retail stores, government finance and other lines which usually pay less than work in industries. In the latter—chiefly in manufacturing, mining and construction—employment last month was still below pre-recession levels.

The average factory work week expanded to 40.3 hours in October and hourly earnings rose to a record of $2.35. Consequently, the average factory worker's weekly wages before taxes advanced to $34.71—a new high and $4.59 more than in October, 1960.

John B. Long Talks Business

By JACK KNUDSON

In addition to pacing the growth of Palm Springs and the surrounding desert resort area, The Desert Sun is keeping up a trend in newspaper business through its building and expansion program.

This was the opinion expressed by John B. Long, general manager of the California Newspaper Publishers Association (CNPA) during an interview yesterday.

Americans Pay Last Respects To Rayburn

BONHAM, Tex. (UPI) — The body of House Speaker Sam Rayburn, dressed in a plain navy blue suit, lay in state today surrounded by mementoes of an unparalleled congressional career.

Government officials and other prominent Americans were pouring into this small north central Texas town to pay their last respects to "Mr. Democrat."

His body, in a bronze coffin, was placed in the white marble library he built on the outskirts of Bonham to house his personal records and documents. It also has his office in it, an exact duplicate of his office in the House of Representatives.

President Kennedy, for whose legislative program Rayburn sacrificed a chance to live perhaps months longer, led the nation in mourning the 79-year-old congressman as a great American.

Samuel Taliaferro Rayburn, born Jan. 6, 1882, on a farm at Kingston, Tenn., died peacefully in his sleep Thursday of cancer.

Funeral services are scheduled Saturday at 2:30 p.m. EST, at the First Baptist Church in Bonham. It seats 600 and is not expected to be big enough for the persons who will try to attend.

Kennedy Due Saturday
President Kennedy will fly Saturday to Fort Worth Air Force Base at Sherman, Tex., 26 miles west of Bonham, and arrive in Bonham by helicopter at 1:50 p.m. EST. He plans to leave Bonham at 4 p.m. after the services and burial.

Elder H. G. Ball of the Primitive Baptist Church of Tioga, Tex., which Rayburn joined in September, 1957, will officiate. Rayburn will be buried in the family plot at Willow Wild Cemetery beside his sister, Lucinda (Miss Lu) Rayburn, his Washington hostess who died of cancer in 1956.

Long, who is rounding out his 34th year as head of the CNPA and is credited as the founder of the National Newspaper Week observance, said he believed the newspaper business is approaching a peak.

Circulation Highest
"Gross circulation is the highest in history and should go higher," Long declared. He went on to assert that commercial television and its lowered program I.Q. has started a trend toward the return of advertising to the hometown newspaper.

"Whether it's a metropolitan area paper, a country weekly or a community daily such as The Sun, a newspaper is the greatest community builder that there is," Long declared.

Long, who left active newspapering in 1933 to take over direction of what is now the CNPA and build an organization representing the daily and weekly newspapers in five states, said he came to Palm Springs to participate in the convention of the California Grocers Association.

Praise and Criticism
"I came to discuss advertising techniques and how to attract foot traffic into stores," Long said. "It was pleasing to hear the fine references to newspaper advertising that were made at the meetings."

Long had high praise, along with just a little criticism for newspapers in California.

"We have fought for years to maintain the freedom of the press and in this state have done well," he said. California has a statute on its books that enables a news reporter to protect his news sources. This is vital.

Too Defensive
"An effective and efficient reporter always knows much more than he ever writes into his stories. He needs to know these things to do a good job and he must have and protect news sources."

"But the newspapers are on the defensive too much of the time. This is not for the good of the owners, but for their readers," Long continued.

"The newspapers are in a constant fight to keep bureaucratic-minded officials from bottling up legitimate news, but fight they must. The newspaper must keep the taxpayer informed on what the taxpayer is doing with tax dollars."

"The press does not disclose the intensity of this fight in the interest of public welfare. It does not promote itself enough."

Ran Tobacco Ads

ROME (UPI)—A bill that would ban advertisements for cigarettes and tobacco is on the way to becoming law in Italy.

The proposed ban is based on the view that such advertising is an "incitement to vice." Italy's House of Deputies approved the bill Wednesday and it now needs only a favorable Senate vote to become law.

One 7-Year-Old in Hassle Over That Old Prize-and-Salve Dodge

NEW YORK (UPI) — You can't blame a 7-year-old for trying to win—absolutely free—a "genuine 16K gold finish photo ring."

He won the ring, all right, but he also got a dozen packages of salve he was supposed to sell at 30 cents each.

When he didn't sell them, the trouble began.

The boy, Charley Schron, has been receiving letters from a lawyer representing a Pennsylvania cosmetics concern, threatening him with legal action unless he sent the firm $5.50.

Charley won't pay, and neither will his uncle, Robert P. Schron, who happens to be director of public information for the Better Business Bureau. Schron asked Charley to answer the advertisement which appeared in a comic book, and even helped him with the answers—purposely misidentifying Paul Revere as Thomas Jefferson and Betty Ross as Molly Pitcher. Charley "won" the ring anyway.

Office of State Employment Here

A new state office will be opened in Palm Springs Monday, Dec. 4. R. J. Nelson of the Indian branch of the California State Employment department said Thursday. The new job placement office is designed to serve local employers and job applicants and will be located in the American Legion building at 400 North Belardo Road.

Representatives of the state office announced the decision to open the office and its location after several days of study to determine the best central location available in the downtown area. Nelson said the office will be open several hours a day, Mondays through Fridays.

He emphasized that it was for job placements only and that unemployment insurance claims would continue to be processed at Indian. There is no fee to be charged either employer or job applicant, he said.

He added that the Dec. 4 date is tentative and that a definite date and the hours the office will be open will be announced later.

GOP Will Hear Senator Tower

Senator John G. Tower will be the guest speaker Dec. 1 at the Mission Inn, Riverside, when county Republicans meet at a dinner to climax their fund raising campaign for 1961. Riverside County Republican Central Committee, United Republican Finance Committee and Republican volunteer organizations are arranging the event.

Mrs. Everett L. Grubb, general chairman, has asked leading Republican workers in the county to serve as members of the dinner committee which is headed by Mr. and Mrs. Ruel Johnson. Representing Palm Springs, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bennett were invited to join the committee.

Time for the meeting and dinner is 6:30 p.m.

Those 12-foot high Tikis are attracting a lot of attention to Aloha Jhows, which opens tonight. The Tikis, which are the work of John F. De Cuir and Lyle Wheeler, are even more brilliant than Honolulu boasts. Located in Cameron Center, Aloha Jhows' interiors are equally brilliant, featuring the bright hues characteristic of Polynesian royalty. It is decorated with Tiki masks and incense burns in front of a Tiki god imported from the Islands. Menu is authentic Cantonese dishes served with tropical drinks.

When Palm Springs favorite comedian Paul Gilbert opens tonight at Chi Chi Starlite Room it will be with an all new show, that includes the Ink Spots and Jacqueline Fontaine. It's that same old funny man with new lines and advance reports say the new show is the zaniest yet. Here's three popular acts for the price of one.

Bob Westbrook, the young millionaire who is a partner with his uncle Peter Fairchild in a La Cienega restaurant, was entertaining Alan and Sue Ladd and their daughter Alana, who is his frequent date, at dinner at the Racquet Club the other evening.

Filmites have been particularly noticeable around the Club this past week. Mrs. Lew Wasserman was hostess of a dinner party.

McGrew Exhibit At Gallery

The Desert Magazine Art Gallery is presenting a one man show for R. Brownell McGrew, with 31 of his paintings on exhibit from Nov. 16 through Dec. 7, including the award-winning picture from the Death Valley 49ers Encampment.

Ed Ainsworth in his book, "Painters of the Desert" says of McGrew: "The spirit of Rembrandt under a smoke tree... A wanderlust for byways in the desert... 'Painting techniques from the Old Masters... These ingredients have united to form the figure of a painter passionately dedicated to an ideal combining all the elements of the vast region of dunes and arroyos of the American West... In both portraits and landscapes, he conveys an innate resoluteness and power rarely encountered on the American scene today."

In addition, the Gallery is exhibiting paintings by Olaf Wiegner, Heiner Grimm, Bill Bender and Cyle Forsythe, who were also top award winners at the Encampment. James Swinnerton is represented by three beautiful canvases. Admission is free. Hours are 9 to 5 daily, including Sunday. The Gallery is in Palm Desert on Highway 111.

Newman Can't Sing for Supper

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Actor Paul Newman complains he can't get a yodeling part because he has been "type-cast in Hollywood." The star of "Hombre," "Long Hot Summer" and "From the Terrace" made his debut in a children's play in which he yodeled a song written by his uncle. "Ever since, I've tried to persuade producers that I'm ripe for casting as an authentic yodeler, but they don't believe I can make the grade," he said.

GIANT CRANES set a 103-foot girder into place on the Ramon Road overpass of Highway 60-70-99. Above, workmen set the first cement girder in place over the southbound lane of the state highway. The overpass will not only cross Highway

60-70-99, but will also span the Southern Pacific tracks. Below, workmen at crane lift the huge girder into place on top of the cement abutments. An hour or so after these pictures were taken it was reported one of the girders dropped and smashed to pieces in the roadway. For the job, the southbound lane was closed to traffic, with one way traffic using the northbound lane. (Desert Sun Photo)

Discard Decorating Cliches, Says Artist

NEW YORK (UPI)—We need to rid our homes of numerous decorating cliches, says Lawrence Peabody, Boston designer of interiors and home furnishings.

Peabody then listed the five most hackneyed expressions of decor in houses today, beginning with the picture window with a frilly lamp placed dead center.

The other four were: the "big wall" and what to do with it, usually with the homemaker settling for the sofa, two end tables and a lamp on each table; the "line everything up along the walls" approach; the "center everything" scheme, and the "hab-it" decor of doing what always has been done before because you're used to seeing it that way.

Peabody, an articulate man in his middle thirties, said none of these showed much imagination on the part of the homemaker.

Windows serve two major purposes, he said. To control the view and to control light. Not as a setting for a "flossy" lamp.

Peabody suggested that rooms be planned with the flow of traffic in mind, even if this means hauling a sofa into the middle of things; that the homemaker try to see a room setting in relation to her family's life and exercise some freedom in planning its arrangement; that although it is easier to place a picture in the center of a wall area, asymmetry helps toward interesting decorating.

"Plan walls as a total," said the designer-decorator during an interview. He was in New York on business in connection with his designs of wallpaper, furniture (case goods, juvenile and outdoor) floor coverings, window shades, and a line of toys which "do things."

"Squint when you look at a room the same way you're told to squint when you look at art. There is no reason, for instance, that a picture should always be hung at eye level. I've done pictures all the way from the floor to the ceiling.

"A room should be planned from a sitting position... not standing."

Pass-Through Links Kitchen

A pass-through between the kitchen and dining room can be an extremely functional home improvement.

When designed as a long counter, the pass-through can serve as a desk in the kitchen and a buffet in the dining room. Built-in drawers on both sides will provide plenty of storage space.

Insurance Rich

NEW YORK (UPI)—During the past decade the amount of life insurance owned by American families has grown eight times as fast as the nation's population. Insurance spokesmen estimated the total at $10 billion—as of the half-way mark of 1961. This is almost two-and-one-half times the total of life insurance American families owned at the end of 1951. On the average, the $610 billion figures out to $13,000 of insurance per family.

GARDENING IN THE DESERT

Jasmine Has Pleasing Fragrance at Night

The fragrant night-blooming jasmine is a graceful shrub. Originating in the West Indies, this family of tropical plants boasts of more than 150 species. The star-like flowers do not open until long after sundown. It is then that the perfume is emitted, an insidious aroma which, when the growth is dense as in some parts of the Indies, become so heavy and powerful.

Jasmine is grown locally and adds its quota to the pleasing scent of the night air. Unlike its companion, the night blooming cereus, the life of the bloom does not terminate after one night of operation. In fact, long after the blooms have died and turned into sprays of Jasmine berries, you may see these berries adding variety to a cluster of mixed flowers on a graceful sideboard.

An Exotic Complement

Slow to start its development but fast growing when established, the Bird of Paradise provides a striking, exotic complement to the most important part of your grounds. It is not entirely tropical in origin having originated in South Africa. When planted near a pool its reflection enhances its appearance of being a bird in flight. When expansion of the plant becomes too wide sections should be moved by clump cutting and transplanted. To enhance your supply of cut flowers the plant is a generous provider.

Those who appreciate a background of green leaves for cut flower arrangements should give Rhus ovata or sugar bush consideration. Like many California natives it is a sun lover. The shrub grows to height of ten feet and appears to ignore the seasons entirely. Allow plenty of room for this plant's expansion, its growth is dense and full and sometimes used as a windbreak.

In last weeks writing we failed to complete the dissertation on growing Pansies: Pansies are hardy if given enough water; they seem to do best when blooms are not allowed to die on the stem.

A bowl of floating Pansies add color to your living-room, in early spring a pruning helps to lengthen their life.

Gadgets Are Good

The sprinkling method of irrigation is a very old one, however, local nurserymen have some recently patented gadgets in that line that are worthy of consideration. Two of them, put into operation by attachment to the gardener hose, are especially good. Solidly built, and evidently of a lasting quality, they tend to make irrigation easier and less messy.

The larger one throws a fine spray in a semi-circle 100 feet in diameter and is mounted on a roller for easy handling.

The smaller one has a control which is adjusted to the size of the surface requiring irrigation. The maximum diameter of its spray is 50 feet, the minimum five feet. The latter spray control is especially useful where you might have a small portion of your lawn which, for diverse reasons, needs extra irrigation. The hosed water provides the motive power to both these instruments and their action is almost noiseless.

Office at Home

Besides making work easier and faster, a home office often is tax deductible.

Businessmen with a part or full time office in the home can deduct the cost of the space, equipment and furnishings, in most cases. The home office must be used primarily for business purposes, of course, to qualify for a tax deduction.

Most home offices are located in the garage, basement or attic because there is enough space for a desk, chair, filing cabinet and typewriter stand.

Bonsai Held Highest Form Of Gardening

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—One of the highest forms of green thumb gardening is bonsai, the ancient art of growing normal trees reduced to miniature size in containers.

Bonsai was originated in China in the 12th century, and was adapted and perfected by the Japanese about 200 years later. Many specimens now existing in Japan date back several hundred years.

John A. Dutro, Oakland bonsai expert, said bonsai, contrary to common belief, does not distort trees.

Three Named to Hotel Board

Three new members have been named to the Palm Springs Hotel and Apartment Association board, replacing former board members who have retired from the hotel field, Sherman Dickinson, president, announced.

New board members are Roger De Sarno, Howard Manor; Sherman Hull, Racquet Club; and Harold Flannery, Pepper Tree Inn.

There is one motor vehicle for every 2.5 persons in this country. If the present trends continue, there will be 114 million motor vehicles in the United States by 1976.

Realty Leader Has Reliable Coach

Isabelle Cameron, newly-elected president of the Palm Springs Board of Realtors, will have the aid of a retiring woman president, and the guidance of her realtor husband, Don.

To her husband, a former president of the realtors here, Mrs. Cameron credits her success as a realtor. The example of retiring president Mrs. Theresa Press Mrs. Cameron termed outstanding in a statement to the board, introduced by Mrs. Press, Mrs. Cameron said:

"To follow in the footsteps of Theresa Press is a rough assignment. I hope I do everything as I should. I am proud to be a Realtor and a member of the Palm Springs Board of Realtors. The success I've had as a realtor, I owe to my husband, Don Cameron."

Cameron, was president of the Palm Springs Board in 1959. The newly elected officers will take office in January.

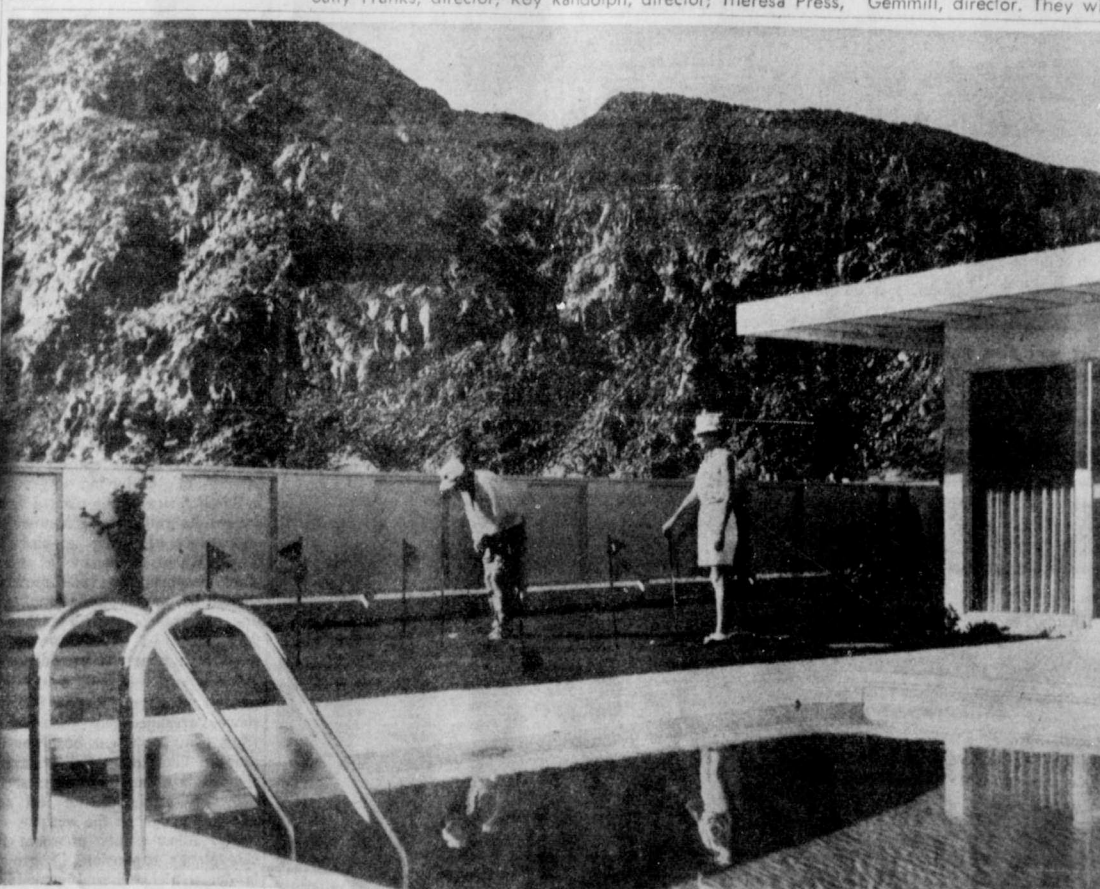

Praise was given to the nominating committee, headed by Frances Wilson, and John Bernet, co-chairmen, for selecting a slate of officers representative of the board's wide and varied interests. Other members on the nominating committee were Sally Franks, Tom Gemmill, Isabelle Cameron, Bud Wehe and Bill Colven.

Mrs. Press will be inducted as Vice-President of the 28th District of the California Real Estate Association at its installation of officers at the Biltmore Hotel, Los Angeles, Jan. 13. Charles H. Brown will be installed as president of CREA at this meeting.

In accepting the honor and distinction conferred upon her, pointed out at the meeting by Herbert Lakey, President Press said: "As Isabelle Cameron has pledged to do her best for our Board, so I pledge myself to do my best during the coming year as vice president of our District. An indoctrination session is scheduled at the Huntington Hotel in Pasadena, November 30th, and you can be sure I will be there because I am anxious to learn my new duties."

Smokers Pay
NEW YORK (UPI) — State taxes on tobacco products rose nearly 50 per cent during the two year period 1959-60, according to the trade publication Tobacco News.

Affiliate members and guests at the Palm Springs Board meeting included Harold West of the new branch of Bank of America, Prue Davis, escrow officer of the new Bank of America branch; Bill Holsinger of Security Title Co.; Tom McGrath of First American Title Co.; Dave Grant of Security First National Bank; and Daris Carlson of the City National Bank.

PRACTICING on their own putting green at their new home at Manitou Springs Estates are Mr. and Mrs. Roger Coverly of San Marino. Both ardent golfers, they said they selected their desert home because of its location near Indian Wells Country Club and is ideal for entertaining friends.

Electric Lawn Umbrellas Out

CHICAGO (UPI)—Electric lawn umbrellas were far and away the most talked-about pieces introduced at the recent casual furniture market, where buyers previewed next summer's garden furniture. Flashlight batteries in the umbrella handle open, close and tilt it at the flick of a switch.

The powered bumbershoots were typical of the mechanically improved garden furniture at this market. Folding furniture and grills shown collapse, easily and compactly. Muscle-powered umbrellas, with or without tables, open and close without jamming. Plastic tips on the legs of folding chairs, chairs and tables keep them from creeping.

Much of the new summer furniture is designed for year 'round use indoors as well as out.

Among the most striking: An Early American grouping of end tables, coffee tables, captains' chairs, side chairs and high round tables. They're metal with the look of wood and tops of tables are Philippine mahogany.

HERE'S A WORKBENCH finished in a manner that adds real style to the shop area. Sliding doors, drawer and cabinet fronts are of coated panels with walnut woodgrain finish. Exposed lumber has been painted to match. Tools hang neatly from a peg board panel, painted white to reflect light from the adjustable fixture and brighten the work area.

Committee Will Study Traffic

A special committee of the Palm Springs Board of Realtors, named to study the one-way street proposals for portions of Palm Canyon Drive and Indian Avenue, met this afternoon in the first of a series of study sessions leading to recommendations.

The committee includes Kay Gannon, chairman; Culver Nichols; Morey A. Thal; John Seamans; Jim Crowe; and Lew Levy. The committee was appointed by Mrs. Theresa Press, board president, for a report in the "near future."

City Planners OK Erosion Controls

The city planning commission has approved planning department recommendations for wind erosion control in subdivision developments, and asked for preparation of an ordinance for consideration.

The recommendations include ground cover, vegetable or rock, for development areas, construction of paved areas as readily as feasible, and retention of vegetation cover until actual construction begins.

The commission delayed approval of Barbara tract four pending a field trip inspection. Residents of adjacent areas have complained of inadequate wind and blow-sand control in the area.

Hotel Plan Held

Architectural approval for the El Moro hotel was held in abeyance pending future remodeling plans. A field trip was scheduled to examine a wall in front of the Plaza Motors used car department, facing Indian Avenue. The firm had asked permission to reduce the wall, or replace it with a hedge approximately 15 inches high, to permit view of the merchandise.

An application by Safari Trailer Park for approval of extension of the current development was continued. The commission asked plans for a 60 foot roadway on the north property line, to join the proposed Cherokee Way.

Urge Park Control

The commission recommended urgency ordinances for zoning control of business and trailer parks in mountainous areas in Section 30 along East Palm Canyon Drive. Proposed is division of the subject area in eight sections, with prohibition against trailers or business structures higher than 20 feet above the lowest ground level in each of the sections.

The commission, seeking more compatible zoning in adjacent county areas, has endorsed proposed R-1, single family residence, zoning in a current M-3 industrial area in Section 10 north of Palm Springs. The area is one mile north of Highway 111, west of Indian Avenue.

Zoning Maps Are Available

Updated zoning maps showing all current zoning in Palm Springs are available in the city clerk's office for $1.50, Richard Coleman, planning director, announced.

The updated maps, showing current zoning only, were approved by the planning commission Wednesday.

The new maps measure 30 by 42 inches, the city clerk's office reports.

Savings Heads Attend Meet

W. H. Smith, president and manager of Coachella Valley Savings and Loan Association, left Thursday for Chicago to attend the national meeting of the U.S. Savings and Loan League in session Nov. 17-20.

Smith is on the Committee for the Constitution by By-Laws and will also appear on the Advertising and Public Relations Forum.

Lucille Johnson, vice president and controller of CVSLA, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Jerry Swaim, in West Newton, Mass., will attend the same convention, stopping off in Chicago on her return trip to Palm Springs.

Against Shooting

DETROIT (UPI)—For the record, it's official government policy to frown on shooting your neighbor at the fallout shelter door in the event of a nuclear attack.

John E. Cosgrove, new assistant director of the Office of Emergency Planning for the federal government, said, "The federal government does not favor shooting one's neighbor."

Cosgrove made the statement at a White House regional conference here Wednesday.

Grand Opening Continues At Palm City's New Unit

Grand opening of the second unit continues this weekend at Palm City, the $30 million desert retirement community near Palm Springs, following special ceremony held Nov. 11-12.

An estimated 8,000 people visited the city-size senior citizens project during the first week of the new unit's opening, according to developer Nels Severin.

In addition to a tree-planting ceremony on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 11, refreshments were served to visitors, free packages of dates were given away, community singing was led by television personality Art Baker and a special show was held in the assembly hall by Mrs. Art Baker and mentalist George Austin. There was also a desert art exhibit and musical entertainment by The Deacons.

Visitors toured the seven brightly-furnished model homes and the cooperative apartments, which are open seven days a week. Also receiving heavy traffic was the large recreation center and its card and game rooms, assembly hall, two swimming pools, therapeutic pool, shuffleboard courts, horseshoe pits, and patio and picnic areas.

Severin, nationally-known Los Angeles builder, was assisted by Congressman D. S. (Judge) Saund (D., Calif.) and Indio Mayor James O'Brien in the tree-planting which officially marked the opening of the No. 2 unit. Following the ceremony, Severin presented a large gold key to Art Baker as "honorary mayor of Palm City." Mr. and Mrs. Baker own one of the retirement homes.

Severin said he was "overwhelmed and gratified" at the response shown by senior citizens to his project, the first of its kind in California.

He noted that the first unit of 450 homes, opened last March, was nearly sold out before opening of the No. 2 section, adding that it appeared sales would be equally good, if not better, in this unit.

The second unit will consist of 463 two- and three-bedroom homes, offered in 31 exteriors. Also 184 cooperative apartments will be built. All border a championship 18-hole golf course and a nine-hole pitch and putt course.

The noise made by the ostrich is a roar and at a distance it is similar to that of the lion.

NEW UNIT of homes and apartments was opened last weekend at Palm City, California's first active retirement community located near Palm Springs. In ceremonies following tree-planting, television celebrity Art Baker, right, is made honorary mayor of Palm City with presentation of gold key by developer Nels G. Severin, of Los Angeles, center, while congratulations are offered by California Congressman D. S. (Judge) Saund.

Severin, nationally-known Los Angeles builder, was assisted by Congressman D. S. (Judge) Saund (D., Calif.) and Indio Mayor James O'Brien in the tree-planting which officially marked the opening of the No. 2 unit. Following the ceremony, Severin presented a large gold key to Art Baker as "honorary mayor of Palm City." Mr. and Mrs. Baker own one of the retirement homes.

Railroads for Africa Different

By JESSE BOGUE
UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — With all the material available in the United States on the problems of railroads, it would seem that a sort of world-wide rule book could be assembled.

But not when it comes to African railroads. There, at least in the case of one long line in particular, what American railroads have discovered doesn't seem to apply. At least not when it pertains to how to tell its story to the public.

Prince Yurka Galitzine, 42, the Briton who took over that chore for the Benguela Railway Company about four years ago, discovered this when he took a look at the layout for the line, which runs from the Atlantic Coast into Africa for a linkup with the Katanga and Rhodesian Railway Systems. It runs through Angola, and it furnishes an outlet for the copper-mining areas of Katanga.

U.S. Visit

Galitzine told about it on a recent trip to the United States, where he came to complete negotiations with the Philip Lesly Company on setting up a new international public-relations organization, another example of a trend evident among advertising and allied firms stemming from Europe's economic growth, United States investment overseas, and the common interests of the two areas.

What with a long history of U.S. railway tiffs with state commerce commissions, arguments over freight rates, brushes with commuter organizations, Galitzine said, he thought the Association of American Railroads might have hints that would be helpful to him.

"It wasn't that they didn't answer," Galitzine chuckled as he recalled his experience. "They sent a flood of stuff. I almost had to open a warehouse."

"But none of it applied. Running a railroad in Africa is noting like operating one in the United States."

He described the railroad as a "lifeline" into Katanga. Not only does it bring copper out, but it brings in heavy mining machinery, much of which comes from the United States.

Subsidiary

The company which operates the railroad is a subsidiary of Tanganyika Concessions Limited, a British mining finance house. The history of the road's operation is as lively as that of some of the United States railroads of 100 years ago, except that the pressures and rivalries as it pushed into Africa were international rather than national.

The railroad concession was granted in 1901, 60 years ago. Its progress before World War I was slow; the Germans, with their then extensive interests in Africa, were reluctant to see it grow. After World War I there were long negotiations with the Belgians, heavily interested in Katanga projects, before they would permit a linkup, accomplished in 1931.

It was not until 1957 that a satisfactory tri-partite agreement—the road has 10 per cent Portuguese interests—was worked out.

The Benguela Railway isn't exactly a passenger line.

"The passenger trains are very comfortable, and have what seem like very plush furnishings," said Galitzine. "The beds are very comfortable."

"But the train makes lots of stops. It takes days for a passenger travel about as far as a goods (freight) train will make in one day. And at most stops, you get a sort of conducted tour of the area. Very friendly."

"But the passengers seem to travel at only about 15 miles an hour."

Investigate Death

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Navy said Wednesday it was investigating the death of a Cuban worker on the Guantanamo Naval Base. Cuba has charged that Americans murdered him.

A Navy spokesman would not comment on published reports that two Marines were under detention at Camp Lejeune, N.C., on suspicion of involvement in the death of Ruben Lopez.

AGENTS AND DISTRIBUTORS ARE WANTED

Responsible people with sales experience are invited to write for information and price structure. See how you can help by contacting interested groups. Responsible persons will be appointed in each strategic area. If you think you can qualify, if you have a burning desire to be helpful to your fellow citizens and work in a painful way by helping others, send us your name and address and background in selling or business experience.

We Especially Invite Inquiries From:

BUSINESS FIRMS — who see the wisdom of preparedness and feel impelled to put in stocks of certified SURVIVAL FOODS. (In truth, don't you feel it is a responsibility of yours to see that every one of your employees has emergency food (relax on hand)? Here in SURVIVAL FOODS you have the answer — so why not appoint one of your people to get all the details.

CIVILIAN DEFENSE GROUPS — are already familiar with the desperate needs. Here is their opportunity to actively participate by working closely with other organized groups and with individuals, not only to see that everyone is familiar with the need but to point out how SURVIVAL FOODS ideally fits and answers emergency feeding problems — and you can make some money by doing it. Write

PANCHO VILLA RIDES AGAIN IN LEGEND ALONG BORDER

By HOYT GIMLIN

COLUMBUS, N.M. (UPI)—Pancho Villa, now dead for 38 years from an assassin's bullet, rides again in legend along the U.S.-Mexican border he terrorized for years.

A park will be dedicated in his name Nov. 18 at Columbus, where he led a bloody raid in 1916 that set off a border war.

A three-year controversy over the name in New Mexico has offered evidence Villa's role in history has not been finally decided. Was he simply a murderous bandit or really a Robin Hood to Mexican peons during revolutionary upheavals in their country? Sen. Dennis Chavez, D-N.M., himself of Spanish ancestry, denounced the New Mexico Legislature in 1959 for authorizing the Pancho Villa State Park. He said people on neither side of the border appreciated Villa.

The lawmakers got around the quarrel by leaving no money to build the park. But this year, after tempers cooled they quietly put money in the State Parks Commission budget for the task. This fall some picnic facilities were erected and a garden of desert plants placed on a 34-acre site at the edge of this village of 300, three miles from the border.

Only afterward was the dedication announced, and then aspects of international goodwill were stressed rather than the name itself.

This village is ready to accept the park in hopes that Villa's name will attract tourists. A newspaper at nearby Deming editorialized that people remember Villa for the raid, not Gen. John J. (Blackjack) Pershing whose cavalry and even airplanes chased him for months, always one step behind.

The mustachioed outlaw and his band surprised an encampment of the U.S. 13th Cavalry March 10, 1916 and sacked the village. The night of fighting left six American soldiers and eight civilians dead.

Within five days President Wilson mustered the National Guard and ordered them on Villa's trail. But the Mexican government, itself trying to suppress Villa, protested and finally American forces were withdrawn.

Some historians see Villa's attack as an act of revenge on the United States for permitting Mexican government troops to be moved across American soil against him. Others view it as bloodthirsty plunder.

By 1920 a new government in Mexico took Villa off the outlaw rolls and gave him a ranch where he remained until shot to death three years later at age 45, by then pudgy and well entrenched in folklore.

Champ Bird Watcher Celebrates 80th Year

By HARRY FERGUSON

LONDON (UPI) — Dr. Ludwig Koch is celebrating his 80th birthday, and if you do not know who he is you will do well to keep your mouth shut about it inside the British Isles. He is the champion bird watcher in a nation where bird watching takes on the fervor of religion.

He is flooded with congratulatory telegrams and letters, a bust of him will be placed on exhibition soon and he has chosen this week to make an announcement about a momentous bird-watching discovery.

Birds sometimes turn the tables on bird watchers and watch people!

Specifically, Koch said, he had been watched by a garden warbler. In addition to watching birds, Koch records their chirpings and he has phonograph records containing the cries of 178 different birds. One day he was setting up his microphone to try to get some bird cries when the historic event took place.

Bird Watches Koch

He placed the microphone under the branches of a large tree, but first he caused the tree and made some noises to be sure it contained no birds. Silence. The microphone was adjusted and Koch quietly hid behind some bushes and prepared for a bit of bird watching. Suddenly the warbler swept triumphantly out of the tree brushed the microphone with its wings and flew away. The bird had been watching the bird watcher.

Koch released another bombshell on his 80th birthday. Birds, like people, have different accents. Not only American and British accents but regional ones. "I got a chaffinch in 1936 which had a real Oxford accent," he said.

PALM SPRINGS TRAILER RALLY STARTS

Expect Over 100,000 to Visit Show

The annual Palm Springs Trailer Rally and Show, expected to draw more than 100,000 visitors to the resort area, gets under way here today.

Totalling a display of more than 1,500 travel trailers, campers and trailer equipment, the 11th annual show will be held at the Palm Springs Polo Grounds.

At the show, which started yesterday, a total of 30 name brand trailers display their new 1962 line of travel trailers and campers, including mobile homes from eight to 24 feet in width, and two miniature trailers completely furnished and pulled by small foreign cars.

A 'First'

Thirteen camper manufacturers are showing a total of 30 campers, an added attraction that is in the show for the first time this year.

An even dozen accessory dealers have set up booths at the show to display their items for mobile home owners use, and one of the newest features is a Dolly-Parker, which is a hand-guided machine with a gasoline motor that is put under trailers and used to park them in trailer parks.

The show is being held in the parking lot of the Polo Grounds; some 350 Airstream trailers have again taken over the ball park and, because of the great number, are also parking around the outside of the ball park. This group is celebrating its 30th anniversary.

Entertainment

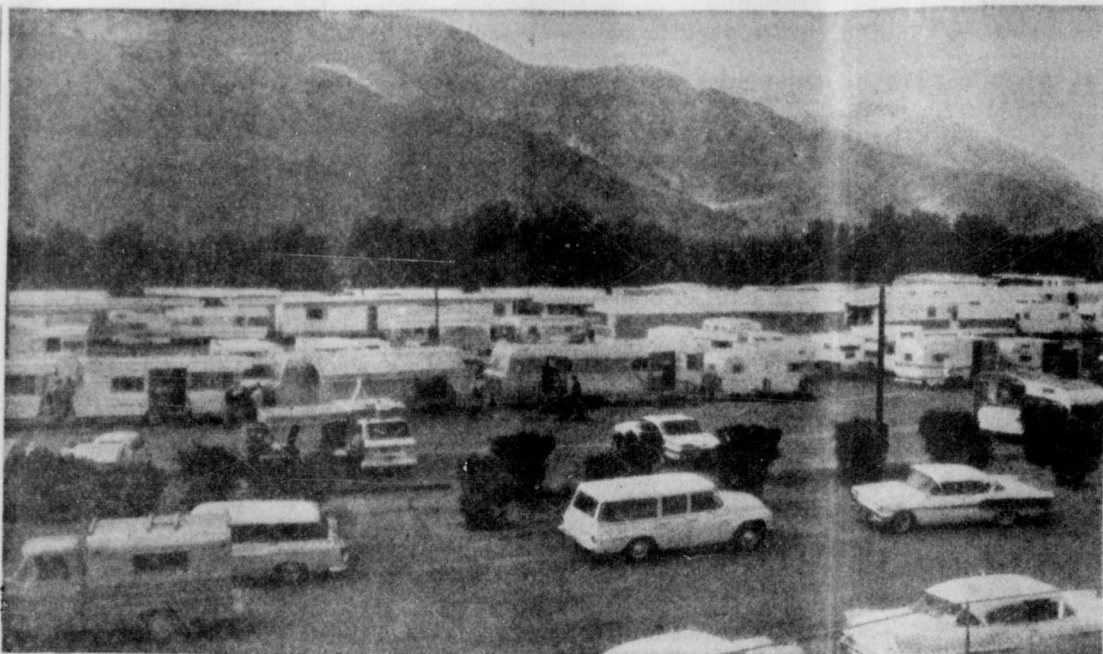

In Linea Village some 400 trailers, belonging to members of trailer clubs will be set up, plus some 75 unattached private trailers belonging to individuals attending the rally.

Entertainment will open tonight with a program, "A Night in Paris," presented at the Pavilion by actor-director William James and a skit by the Kentskill Club on the same stage.

A children's hour will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday. Trailerites will drive cars and trailers in a gymkhana obstacle course that afternoon.

A tour movie and the annual Liars and storytellers Contests will be held Saturday evening at Polo Grounds Stadium.

Special interdenominational services will be held Sunday morn-

THE SHOW GROUNDS, manufacturers and distributors put finishing touches on their displays at the TrailerSportsman Show at the Polo Grounds which opened yesterday. It is estimated by Trailer Rally Association officials that some 100,000 persons will see and take part in the 11th annual affair. The show is opened free to residents and visitors. (Desert Sun Photo)

ger of the Rally; Moses A. Berman, president of the House of Steps, host of the party, and J. Barry Kearney, manager of the Tennis Club. Invitations have been mailed to more than 300 participants in the Rally and Show. (Desert Sun Photo)

MINK-LINED OVERCOATS FOR MEN READY FOR CHRISTMAS

By WALTER LOGAN

NEW YORK (UPI) — Michael Forrest, a man-about-town who is sometimes known as the Mink King of Seventh Avenue, has got into the Christmas picture for other men-about-town—mink-lined overcoats which retail at a less than modest $1,585.

That is for a single-breasted twill outer shell with white pearl buttons and slashed pockets. If the outer shell is Cashmere, the price jumps to $2,000. And if it is mink-lined Vicuna, the price is $3,500.

These super-luxurious overcoats have just been introduced but Forrest said he already has had about 40 takers ranging from a member of the so-called Hollywood "Rat Pack" to young Rafael Trujillo Jr., a frequent buyer of furs for others, at Christmas or other times.

As a matter of fact, young Trujillo, who used to present expensive gewgaws to Hollywood beauties, ordered $85,000 worth of furs from Forrest just before his dictator-father was assassinated.

He canceled about half the order with the death of his father but kept one of the $1,585 overcoats for himself, Forrest said.

One of Forrest's favorite customers, perhaps is Argentine millionaire Jose Herrera, whose family owns a lot of lace mills, among other things. He sent in enough $140-a-yard Vicuna to surround the mink lining and asked that it be made into a coat. The vicuna is tan and the mink lining matches it.

Forrest, whose vaults are reputed to contain more mink than any other in the New York fur area, specializes, of course, in furs for women. But he brooded over the fact that a lot of rich men could afford them too. The result was the overcoat.

In the past, Forrest had put possum trim on men's storm coats and ski parkas, but never did he fool around with something really elegant until he thought of the mink-lined greatcoats.

Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev might have had something to do with it, he admits. Khrushchev has been running around for years in a greatcoat lined with broadtail while wearing a Persian lamb hat to keep out the cold winds out of the Arctic.

Then, of course, there was the memory of the 1920s, when the raccoon coat was the rage.

"Three years ago everybody got excited again about raccoon coats but they found they couldn't sit in a car any more," he said. "If a man sat behind the wheel—and if he could squeeze in—he filled up the front seat and nobody else could squeeze in."

"We made storm coats with fur lining but they were so bulky they were almost as bad."

He ran over the qualities of various furs and decided on mink, because sable and furs of that nature were too bulky. Since female mink skins weigh only one-third as much as male mink skins female skins were used in the lining.

"The female skins are silky but not dense," he said. "We worked out a new way to use them (in the coats they are sewed horizontally) and we had it made." They also are more expensive than the male skins, he added.

Forrest said the coats are just getting started this year but he expects sales to pick up next year. So far, some of his customers include A&P heir Huntington Hartford; singer Tony Martin; Sammy Kahn, music maker of Hollywood; Jack Entratter, proprietor of the Sands in Las Vegas; Curt Swift of the Swift Packing Company, and Bob Strong, who usually is to be found on the list of best dressed men.

Targets for Holdups

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—Bank robbers across the nation would give plenty for a paper found on Luther C. Moncrief, 52, who pleaded guilty to a charge of conspiracy to rob a bank. The paper was a list of Wisconsin banks that would be "easy targets for holdups."

Bobby Garcia to Launch His Race

Robert L. (Bobby) Garcia, the first Palm Springs resident ever to seek a state executive office in a primary election, will launch his candidacy for Lieutenant Governor on Sunday, Dec. 3rd, at the Riviera Hotel in Palm Springs in a non-political Fiesta featuring a bit of Old Mexico.

Mexico's leading movie stars and recording artists will headline the program, with mariachis and cha cha music furnished by the famous Guadalajara Boys and Nunez Brothers.

The entire program has been arranged by Impresario Jose Enrique Herrera who represents Mexico's Motion Picture and Recording Artists' Guild in the United States.

The artists are donating their services to the Garcia for Lt. Governor Campaign Committee, according to Herrera, who said, "Bobby Garcia is our friend and we want to help him and his cause, which represents our true feelings from the people across the border, and that is to combat and defeat communism, the traffic of narcotics, and controlled elections. This will be our first fund-raising show for the Little General, but I propose to state many more throughout the entire state right up to the very end of the campaign."

Garcia said that he will make no political speech at the affair and that politics will play no part in the show. The event will commence at noon with luncheon served in the Mediterranean Room, accompanied by Latin music. The remainder of the afternoon will consist of the floor show and cha cha music and dancing.

Major Changes In Management At Security

RIVERSIDE — Directors of Security First National Bank made major changes in the bank's management following announcements by James E. Shelton, board chairman, and Chester A. Rude, vice chairman of the board, of their intended retirements on Jan. 31, 1962.

Shelton was named senior board chairman, with the expectation that in continuing as a member of the board after January he will be designated chairman emeritus, and continued to serve as a member of the executive committee and chairman of the trust committee.

Rude continues as vice chairman of the board through January, when he expects to continue as a member of both the board and executive committee.

Lloyd L. Austin was elected chairman of the board. He continues as chief executive officer of the bank, and chairman of the managing committee. For the past six years, Austin has served the bank's president.

Frederick G. Larkin Jr., was elected president and a member of the managing committee. Larkin was formerly a senior vice president.

William E. Siegel was elected executive vice president - banking, a newly created title, and was appointed a member of the managing committee. Edwin H. Corbin was elected executive vice president - trust, also a new designation. He will continue in charge of the trust department. Corbin, too, joins the managing committee.

Oscar T. Lawler, a senior vice president of the bank, was added to the managing committee. These seven officers, with Elden Smith, chairman of the executive committee, and Edmund F. Schnieders, senior vice president, constitute the managing committee.

Star's Role In Picture Is Different

A new star has been born but can not talk, sing or dance, but will take the starring role in a motion picture that will open at the Sunair Drive-in Theater next Wednesday.

The star is the X-15, America's fastest aircraft that only last week broke all previous records by traveling 4,070 MPH through the ionosphere.

The picture, produced by Frank Sinatra and appropriately called the "X-15" is scheduled for a full week run at the local drive-in, in color and Panovision.

But on Friday the theater will hold a Major Studio Preview with the "X-15" picture. Written by Damon Runyon, the picture "Pocketful of Miracles" will star Glenn Ford and Bette Davis in Frank Capra's production of the Apple Annie story, in CinemaScope and color running almost two and a half hours.

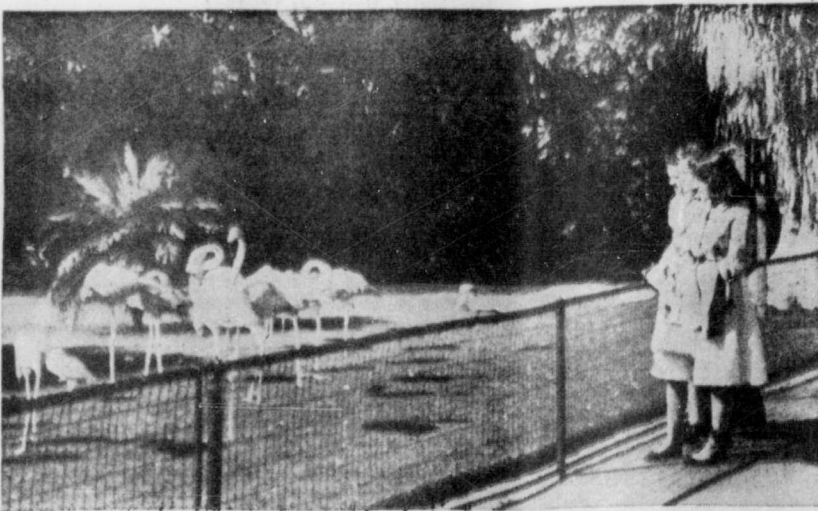

Tests Scheduled For Peace Corps In Chicago

Postmaster S. Merritt Williams has announced that Peace Corps examinations for desert area applicants will be held Nov. 28 - 29 in San Bernardino.

The tests will be given in Room 210 of the post office building at Fifth and D streets, starting at 8 a.m.

THE REBEL

ST. LOUIS Mo. (UPI)—Street Commissioner J. E. Gibler of suburban Pagedale complained Wednesday that just as he finished posting a "no littering" sign a passing motorist "threw a sack full of beer cans, coffee grounds and lettuce leaves at me."

Luther James Jones Funeral Services Set at Monday Noon

Funeral services for Luther James Jones, 71, who lived at 63-775 Palm Vista Drive, will be held at noon Monday in the Wiefels and Son chapel, with the Rev. Adkins, assistant pastor of St. John's Baptist Church, officiating. Jones died in Riverside Tuesday after an illness of several days duration.

A native of Arkansas, Jones had lived in Palm Springs eight years. He was a self-employed gardener.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Lillie Mae Jones; a son, Robert Lee Jones, Louisiana; a son Willie Lee Jones, Oakland; a daughter, Mrs. Gladys Herbert Vallejo; and two sisters, Mrs. Elzatie Ragland, Hope, Ark., and Mrs. Sennie McKibben, Oakland. Interment will be in Desert Memorial Park.

PAINT HORSES

WHITEHALL, Wis. (UPI)—Three men and a woman have been charged with theft for trying to make a horse of a different color.

John Moore, 30, his wife, Jean, 30, Jerry Slimmon, 28, and Gene Hole, 27, were accused of stealing a mare and colt and painting them to disguise their color.

CRIME DOESN'T PAY

LONDON (UPI) — John Read, 43, sentenced to six months in jail Wednesday for stealing an empty beer barrel told the judge, "I thought it was a full one."

MORE FOR THE MONEY AIM OF GROCER ASSOCIATION

The California Grocers Association, representing 5,000 independent and chain store operators, Thursday concluded its 62nd annual convention in Palm Springs after four days of action aimed at giving the consumer more for his money.

The 3,000 delegates from all sections of the state heard plans by some of the large chain grocers to open food discount houses where "extras are yours, at no extra cost," and prices may be at five to 10 per cent below conventional competition.

The grocers took strong action to reduce the retail price of milk to consumers in stores to compete with the so-called drive-in milk depots. They called upon state officials to change the ruling which forbids grocery stores from selling milk at the same price as the drive-ins. They claimed discrimination by the state in interpretation of the ruling.

Retail food prices have increased less than 17 per cent in the past 11 years, a food economist told the delegates, adding that food retailing takes a smaller proportion of the consumer's dollar than any other major industry.

The grocer representatives heard a discussion by a representative of the State attorney general's office on the "Do's and Don'ts" of the new "no-limit" law, which prevents grocers from selling items below cost in the traditional use of loss-leaders.

More newspaper advertising and better use of space was recommended by an expert in the field of food advertising. He said newspapers are, and will remain, the prime media in "taking the grocers story to the consumer."

WANTS REVENGE

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI)—Gov. Norman A. Erbe said Wednesday his sleep was interrupted recently by a phone call from a man demanding "let's get those key clubs."

Erbe said when he asked the man why he was so insistent that the private clubs be closed he explained he'd just been ejected from one.

Around Town

with Hildy Crawford

France's "First Lady of Champagne," Mme. Jacques Bollingers, who arrived on the west coast yesterday and is occupying the royal suite at the Grand Court Hotel, will be in Palm Springs Sunday, when she will be honored at a reception and champagne tasting party at El Mirador.

The affair is strictly invitation-only, and while purveyors, including hotel and club owners have been invited, a few invitations have gone out to the socially elite.

Mme. Bollingers, who heads one of the great champagne companies in Reims, will be on the west coast for just one week, and her activities are planned to the hour, starting out with a black tie affair for 125 hosted by Mac and Bernice McHenry at Tail o' the Cock last night. Numerous other gala affairs are planned to feature this distinguished Frenchwoman.

Speaking of wines, if you have joined the club and are drinking nothing but champagne on the rocks in tall chimney glasses, you know you can't get the waiter's attention... or else the bartender doesn't believe in it... and you wind up with a champagne cocktail in an old-fashioned glass.

A Ramos fizz is another hazard as there are bartenders who are the economic type and aren't saving the yolk of the egg for any other drink.

This seems to be the year that the cocktail crowd either prefers quinine water with a twist of lime, some odd concoction of their own that keeps bartenders on the defensive, or the driest of Gibsons made with straight gin.

Continuing the discussion... it appears that the Pathfinders' Cognac Festival Luncheon at Thunderbird on December 9, will be almost as well covered, publicity-wise, as the Hat Parade Luncheon, which rolled up a book-full of clippings from local and metropolitan press and even made the trade publications.

Mary Matthews, society editor; Dick Robb, women's page editor; and Virginia Horn, society writer, from three big metropolitan papers, will be coming down for the Cognac Festival Luncheon and remain over for the first Sunday brunch of the season, the typically Palm Springs brunch, at the Ranch Club the following day.

Among the guests expected at this Saturday's Playhouse Guild style show luncheon at El Mirador, is Dr. Anne-Marie Bennisstrom, who has a brand-new classification now, since her book, "The Golden Door," goes into the book stores next week.

Ira Hamblum spent several days at the Racquet Club before flying east to Boston, where he will help his daughter Iris celebrate her birthday. He will also visit another daughter, Mrs. Robert Lee Carter III of Groton, Mass., where she is Master of the Fox Hounds for the Groton Hunt Club. Incidentally, she is the only woman in America to lead a hunt club.

In Washington D. C., the much-decorated Maj. Gen. Hamblum will meet with President Kennedy and will also accept his re-appointment as National Vice Chairman of the American Legion's National Aeronautics and Space Committee.

Lee Anderson came down from Los Angeles to spend a few days houseguesting with Ruth (Mrs. Ruloff) Cutten, and with the Princess Soraya who is also Ruth's guest, they were seen lunching at the Racquet Club.

Because Jan King isn't expected back from the mid-west in time, Joan (Mrs. Lee) Walls has replaced her as chairman of the Whistle Table at the WAIF style show luncheon at Riviera on Nov. 25.

Edith Eddy Ward has her Christmas card ordered, and it's the kind that can be cashed. Decorated by a jolly Santa, the check for $186 is payable to the Palm Desert Chamber of Commerce, and wipes out the deficit left over from the recent 8th annual homecoming party. It was Edith's way of saying an early "Merry Christmas" to her favorite community, and today she turned over the check, which bears her lucky number 13, to Don McNeilly chamber manager.

Seniors Plan For Potluck

Fun After Forty Club, Palm Springs Senior Citizens, will hold a potluck dinner in the Palm Springs Pavilion on Nov. 19 at 6:30 p.m.

Each guest is asked to bring a hot dish, salad or dessert and his own table setting. Coffee will be furnished.

Following dinner, music, bridge and games will be available for entertainment.

Arrangements for the evening are being made by Messrs. and Mmes. Lee Latin, William Patterson, Walter Fruitman, Walter Schack and Mrs. Winnifred War-

Hospital Auxiliary Hears Talk by Robert Soderblom

When the Woman's Auxiliary of the Desert Hospital held its monthly meeting at the Nurse's Residence of the Desert Hospital, guest speaker was Robert Soderblom, Loma Linda medical student, who had recently spent three months attached to the Davis Memorial Hospital in British Guiana. He made an interesting and informative talk on the need for more and better medical facilities in the underprivileged countries of the world.

Mrs. Charles Farrell announced the Palette Club plan to donate four murals for the walls of the Nurses' Residence, the first of a number of donations for civic projects.

Mrs. Raye Gholstin reported that there were 23 donors and 20 pints of blood were collected at the October blood bank. She reported, also, that 775 people received polio shots from the October polio clinic.

Auxiliary President Mrs. Herbert Burns announced a full and interesting program for the coming season, and said the membership is open to all interested women.

Following the meeting, refreshments were served by Mrs. Austin Peterson, hospitality chairman, assisted by Mrs. Robert Buckner. Present at the board meeting which preceded the general meeting, were: Mmes. Herbert Burns, Emil Laufer, Leroy Linick, Allen James, Arthur Coffey and Thurman Arnold, Jr.

Junior Women Have Endorsed Medic Alert

Cathedral City Junior Woman's Club has given official endorsement to the Medic-Alert Foundation International, a charitable, non-profit organization established to help protect millions of people with hidden medical problems, announced Mrs. Harold Bentley, Club president.

Medic-Alert provides medical problem identification bracelets, and maintains a central file on its members' medical problems. The vital information in these files is obtainable at a moment's notice on a 24-hour, collect call basis.

Mrs. Bentley advised those wishing further information to contact her, or write to the Foundation in Turlock, California.

Playhouse Guild to Show Fashions

Charles LeMaire, whose label is known to discriminating women everywhere, will parade his International Holiday Collection before a large and representative audience of Palm Springs women, when Palm Springs Playhouse Guild stages its benefit style show luncheon tomorrow at El Mirador. The showing has been arranged through Dorothy Gray Inc. and will be personally commented by LeMaire, who is making his first Palm Springs appearance.

It was big news in the fashion world when LeMaire, after 16½ years as director of wardrobe and executive designer, left 20th Century Fox to create and manufacture his own high fashions, and it is big news that his newest collection is being shown here tomorrow.

A three-Oscar winner during his long motion picture career, when he designed the wardrobes of some of the greatest of the glamor queens, LeMaire has moved on to become a big name in the fashion industry. In addition he is a serious painter and has exhibited at the Los Angeles County Museum and at the Laguna Beach Artists' Association, and his work is included in many private collections here and in France.

Advance reservations released by Mrs. W. F. Schlothan, ticket chairman, indicate that there will be a capacity turnout for the show, with a few tickets still available at the door.

Playhouse Guild President Mrs. John F. Luccarelli will hostess a table of Smoke Tree Ranch women, including Mmes. Max E. Schwab, J. W. Warren, Dorothy Hoover, Andrew Spinks, Roy R. Cummins, Frank S. Townsend, Roy F. Cummins, Frank S. Townsend, George J. Schuchart, Walker Smith, Harry Poppe.

Mrs. Dolph Obergef and Mrs. Edward Rothbart are heading a table which will include Mrs. Frank Bering, Dr. Anne-Marie Bennisstrom and her mother, who is visiting here from Sweden.

Dorothy Gray will have as her guests Mrs. Phil Regan and Mrs. David MacDonald.

Mrs. Harry Chaddick will head a Tennis Club table for 10 with Mmes. Cyrilla Holland and John Ward, Harry Semrow and Thomas Culerton, among others.

Mrs. Chester Cohagen will head the WAIF table, which will include Mmes. Glenn Austin, Gita Alpar, Arthur F. Bailey, Wilson Haas, Arthur B. Muhs, Kenneth Todd, Leo Owens, Floyd Turner, Joseph Clapp and Robert A. Ellsworth.

Thunderbird women will be seated at a table headed by Mrs. Joseph Froggatt and Mrs. Paul Reynolds. Among them will be Mmes. Victor Hugo-Vidal, Chauncey Needham, Joseph Hale, Edward Schill, Frank Bender, Frank A. Godechaux Jr., Harry F. Clatworthy and Daniel Flax.

Woman's Club President Mrs. Herbert Burns will have Mmes. Bert Dutcher, A. H. Coffin, Louis Lombard, Holmes Wherli, J. Aikens Miller and Robert Backstrom.

Hosted by Mrs. Richard Bagdasarian, the table for members of Palm Springs Auxiliary of Angel View Crippled Children's Foundation, will include Mmes. Percy Cross, George Gillman, Jack Bar-on, Ross Winans, Ray Lusby, Edward Meyerson, Lou Mawby, Kay Karahadian and A. Dewey Carter.

With Mrs. James Logan Abernathy will be Mmes. William F. Cody, William C. Tackett, Virginia McLaughlin, H. R. Hamilton, Joseph Dennis and Edith Ritter.

Mrs. Schlothan's table will seat Mmes. Marco Wolff, Robert Hall, Richard Kite, William Simon, John Hamrick and Elizabeth Summerbell. With Mrs. Lester Selig will be Mmes. Carl Leserman, Edwin Morris, Gar Moore, William Leeb, L. Burns.

With Mrs. Samuel Salinger will be Mmes. W. C. Thornton, Maurice Horner, Howard Morris, A. R. Simon and Maria G. Silk of San Salvador. Mrs. John Q. McClure will have Mmes. Norman Waters, Ed Robbin and Harold Murphy with her. Mrs. Frank Russell Payne, recently returned from Reno, will be with Mmes. Homer Hilton, Elaine Childs Elser, Aikward Banning and Constance Sweatt. With Mrs. Diven Meredith.

Mrs. Earl Cordrey will be hostess at a table including Mmes.

Ruth Hardy, Harold Hicks, George Gannon, Lee Doud and Miss Muriel Fulton. Mrs. Joseph Hall, Mrs. William Periberg and Mrs. Milton Prell will be a trio. With Mrs. Florence Larned will be Mmes. Henry Passow, J. W. Choate, Leonard Clarke, Lorena LeGro and Ann Pastzek. Mmes. Ralph G. Wolff, Lloyd Simon, Asher Levy and Milton M. Portis will be with Mrs. Lee Frank.

Fashion conscious Palm Desert women, too, are looking forward to the LeMaire collection with board members Mmes. Robert Morrey, George Berkey, George F. Anderson and Howard Benninghoff working hard on arrangements, and Ann Carpenter in charge of tickets. Mrs. Benninghoff will have at her table Mmes. Richard B. van Blaircon, Robert Hanson, Frank M. Pontius, Walter Stearns and Wilbur Bear, Miquela president of the Palm Desert Players is heading a table for the thespians.

Mrs. Robert Morrey is hostessing a table including Mmes. Harold A. S. Smith, James Harstad, Harlan Kittle, Adrian Schwick, Charles Rowe and Chester Paxton.

Among others who plan to attend are the Mmes. Beebe Bechoff, Charles Rowe, Tom Brown, Ralph Hale, Palmer Powell and many others.

A LeMaire gown and a week at Golden Door at Escondido will be given away.

Proceeds from the show will help finance the Guild's program, which this year includes two children's productions, with plans for bringing top level theatrical productions to Palm Springs next winter.

Parents Confer At Oasis School

This week has been set aside for Parent Conferences at the Oasis Elementary School in Twentynine Palms.

For this week grades one and two morning and afternoon sessions are being dismissed at the usual time. However, grade three and the special training class are dismissed at 1 p.m., while grades four, five and six are dismissed at 2 p.m. Bus schedules have been adjusted to meet these dismissal times, with all classes beginning at the usual time.

Conferences with kindergarten parents will be scheduled later in the school year.

To block drafts around air conditioners apply rope caulk. This comes in a roll and requires no tools to apply.

Spectacular Show Ends Women's Tournament

By HILLY CRAWFORD

Following the award of the trophies in the Women's Invitational golf tournament at Thunderbird, and the highly popular Manseau-Weissmuller win, the women golfers and a generous sprinkling of escorts lined up for a de luxe chuckwagon buffet. There were over 400 in the crowd that filled plates at the salad and hors d'oeuvres, entree and pastry tables. Even with both hands holding well-laden plates (oh, those golfing appetites!) the women kept stopping to congratulate Tournament Chairman Ruth Manseau and to admire the custom designed handsome antique gold and diamond ring that was her trophy. At the opposite end of the table was her team mate blonde Aileen Weissmuller, who had received a ring that was a huge pearl set in a cluster of diamonds.

Winning golf trophies is an old story with Aileen and Ruth, herself, had won the Thunderbird Club championship a few years back, but this year was different... and there's a real story back of her winning score. It was enough that the hard-working tournament chairman had enough energy left to go out and win, but she did it under a big handicap, as she is facing eye surgery. She couldn't see too many yards across the course ahead of her, but with her caddy's direction she laughingly told her friends, "I was playing the Braille system."

Mary Hicks (Harold) was in San Diego on business) stopped by the table, delighted to have won her first tournament trophy, and so did other winners, Helen Reichel, Blanche Dulaney and Peggy Lester. Others at the Manseau table included their long-time friends the Harry Von Zells. Mickey had been playing in the tournament and if you haven't seen Harry on the television screen so much lately, it's because he has been devoting his energy to the anti-communism campaign. Ruby Keeler Lowe, who was one of the stars of the spectacular that followed, the Bob Holden (of the Jack Tar Hotel in San Francisco), Desi Arnaz, Ed Dillon, John Morris, Helen and Jack Kenaston (it was his birthday), Barbara and Barney Hinkle, Mrs. Fred Apostoli and the Claude Harmon.

The recently returned Bill Reichel was there and Helen still laughing about making the spots page as a "new leader has emerged."

The spectacular, which was titled "Anything Goes," because just about anything does, opened with Wiki Dennis at the organ. A native of Australia, she was billed as "The Girl from Down Under," and played the organ with such enthusiasm that she tossed her turquoise slippers over her shoulder and really went to work on the keyboard.

Ella Dyer and Ginny Hugo-Vidal, co-chairmen, presented the usual colorful and amusing show, except that all the old timers missed the Cherry Sisters Act starring Helen Kenaston and Barbara Hinkle, that has been a regular since the shows started.

Opening act was titled "Instant Golf," with pretty Pat Ambrose carrying out the announcement cards, before curtains parted.

Incidentally those curtains were constructed out of the ones left over from the re-decorating of the clubhouse, with a dye job.)

In "Instant Golf," Pat Ambrose was the pro trying to teach Jimmy Rogers Hicks, Mickey Von Zell, Betty Chaplicki and Phyllis Froggatt something about the game called golf, without too much luck. One of Pat Barbara's orchestras, headed by Nick Pellico, played the music for Ruby Keeler Lowe, who did a teenager's swinging interpretation of "My Buddy," in that old "42nd Street" style of hers that made her a great star. Later she joined Mary Hanneberg in some Hawaiian numbers, with Tex Kidwell doing the singing and Ruby the swinging.

One of the highlights of the show was the bar scene, where golf champ Ruth McCullah and Tex sang "Thirty Two Bars," and another was Patsy Goldwater and Mary Harris, wearing golfing shorts and shirts with wedding veils and bouquets, singing "The Gam That I Married."

The finale, with all the Thunderbird girls in vivid-hued costumes, wound up another tournament that left 192 women wind-blown and worn and happy and ready to scatter to homes all over the country.

Among others in the huge crowd were the Clarence Browns, the

Jim Bradens (she was almost unrecognizable in that red wig, she wore in the show), June and J. Ross Clarke, Eric Staintons, Velma Dawson, Emily DeWare (she was NOT wearing her diamonds), the Joe Dyers, Janice Doud, the Joe Froggatts (she was in the show, too), Winsome Courtney, (whose annual fur style show is coming up at Thunderbird on Monday), Emma Gale, Margaret and S. P. Manasse, Louise Nicolotti, the George Robertsons, B. J. Sanchez, Russell Wades and many, many more.

Jan Doty To Be Wed Next Week

In a late afternoon ceremony, Jan Collier Doty will marry Andrew White Lewis on Wednesday, Nov. 22 at the Rancho Manana home on Clancy Lane of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Blake Field.

The Rev. James W. Arnold, pastor of the Cathedral City Community Church, will officiate during the ceremony which will be attended by members of the families and close friends.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Harry B. Lewis and the late Mr. Lewis of LaJolla. His sister, Mrs. Phillip Nelson of Tulsa, Oklahoma will be matron of honor. Willis M. Allen of LaJolla will be best man.

Attending the marriage rites will be Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hilton, grandparents of the bride and her great uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Friend of San Diego. Grandfather of the groom, Col. John Fedon Fleet of LaJolla, will also attend the wedding. From San Francisco Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hitchcock and Miss Marian Huntington plan to attend. Coming from Phoenix will be Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wick and Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Kent, and from Los Angeles, Joseph Hoban.

Bidden to attend the reception which follows the marriage vows, are many Palm Springs and Southern California friends of the bride and groom.

New Pastor and Assistant Feted

Teachers, parents and parishioners gathered in St. Theresa's auditorium to welcome new Pastor Father Michael Nolan and his assistant, Father John Bailey, when St. Theresa's Catholic School climaxed American Educational Week with an open house and potluck dinner.

Classrooms were open for inspection after the 9 a.m. Mass, and during the dinner, from 7 to 9 p.m.

Punch and cake were served to those not attending the potluck. Entertainment was provided by Johnny and Tani Boyle.

The "tree" is a pole extending from floor or table top to ceiling held in place with soft no-mar discs. Metal brackets form hangers for the albums which swivel around the pole. Records are removed, leaving the jacket in place. A pole will hold up to four tiers.

FROM SEATTLE come Mr. and Mrs. James Roberson, who spent a month at Chuckwalla Manor. They are among the hundreds of Seattleites, who find the Palm Springs climate a winter wonderland. Oh, Times Readers! The calendar tells us that Thanksgiving is next week. How about getting your Thanksgiving stories, poems, pictures, cartoons, good neighbor letters, etc., in Saturday by the latest if you want to see them in T. T.'s Thanksgiving issue.

Send along your photo with your stories and other works, if you possibly can, as our readers like to see the authors, just as T. T. does.

Your drawings, cartoons, and pictures should be 2 inches or 3 inches wide and be in black pencil or black ink. Get your entry in the mail now, so T. T. and you won't be disappointed... All right? ... All right!

Honey Bunny

By Wayne Hendrix (2)

Honey Bunny was so funny.
That he laughed at himself.
Honey Bunny was a cunning bunny
And loved candy from the shelf.

When mother went to the store,
Honey Bunny climbed to the shelf
And opened the door.
Candy, candy and more he'd eat
And this for a rabbit was quite a feat.

Alas and a lack
When mother came back
The shelf was bare
And there was no hare.

Submarines, submarines, under the sea.
Submarines, submarines, what do you see?
I see a fish or two.
I see an octopus that's grab-

I will shoot him up.
I shot him down.
That's what I see under the sea.

PUZZLE BOX

By Linda Shupe (9), 30-523 San Antonio Dr., P.S.

By GAYLORD P. GODWIN
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Agriculture Department said today net income of farmers this year is expected to total around a billion dollars more than the $11.7 billion estimate for 1960.

The outlook for 1962 points to little change in farm income from the amount now indicated for 1961, the department said in its publication, "The Farm Income Situation."

The indicated increase reviewing the farm income situation said that through September this year net farm income was estimated at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $12.5 billion. This is 9 per cent, or $800 million over the January-September, 1960, period. The department added that it now appears likely that the fourth quarter will show a "significant gain" over a year earlier.

Billion Dollar Goal
It remains to be seen whether this predicted gain will be enough to reach the billion dollar step in 1961 farm income that was forecast Monday by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman in a speech before the 39th annual National Agricultural Outlook Conference.

The department said the forecast of a continuation of the improved farm income situation into 1962 assumes average growing conditions, no major change in present price support levels, the probable effect of the 1961 Farm Act, and no serious worsening of the international situation. The agency said a generally stronger demand in 1962 for farm products is in prospect reflecting a continuation of the current pickup in economic activity, further population growth, and continued large exports of farm products.

James P. Cavin of the department's Economic Research Service told the outlook conference that a combination of record marketings, higher price supports for major crops, and increased government payments under the feed grain and wheat programs brought the marked improvement in the farm income situation. These have added about $1.5 billion to the $5.1 billion of gross farm income reported for 1960. Production expenses have absorbed about one-third of this gain.

Higher Payments
Government payments to farmers in 1962 may be up slightly in total from 1961, the department seid. Assuming little change in producer participation, payments under the 1962 feed grain program would be close to the $730 million now estimated for 1961. Payments under the 1962 wheat stabilization program will total more than this year when the program was just getting off the ground. Payments to farmers in total under other programs such as the Wool Act, agricultural conservation, and soil bank are not likely to change appreciably.

Cash receipts from farm marketings in 1962 may total about the same as in 1961, the department said. The volume of marketings is not expected to be greatly different from this year, and the average price received for all farm products also points to little change.

Receipts from crop marketings may be slightly lower in 1962, but livestock and livestock product receipts probably will rise. Livestock production likely will increase again in 1962. Cattle prices next year may be about the same and cash receipts from beef cattle may not be much different than in 1961. Hog marketing will be above a year earlier in 1962, reflecting the larger pig crop this fall and an anticipated increase in the 1962 spring pig crop. Hog prices are expected to average below a year earlier.

Increased milk production is likely to result in increased cash receipts next year.

Prices for eggs in 1962 may average a little below this year. Farm production costs are expected to go up next year. These will include higher interest payments, taxes, and wage rates. Feed prices may be a little higher on the average while feeder livestock prices may show little change.

Fire Kills Three

PASCAGOULA, Miss. (UPI)—Three children burned to death Thursday when a butane gas refrigerator exploded, shooting out flames which destroyed the small frame house. The tragedy happened while the children's mother had gone to a road about 100 yards away to meet her mother.

Cuba Takes On Armed Camp Look

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI)—Cuba has taken on the appearance of an armed camp in expectation of an "imperialist invasion," travelers from Havana reported today.

Travelers arriving here said the government of Premier Fidel Castro has ordered general mobilization of its army and civilian reserves "in preparation for invasion" of Cuba.

(Sources in Washington said Castro's soldiers and militia have been on an alert for the past several weeks.)

The Castro government has been warning of an invasion for the past four weeks, and the alert coincides with a renewal of anti-Castro violence in Havana. There have been reports of dead and wounded in the violence during the past two nights.

A total of 3,046 deer were killed by cars in Wisconsin in 1960, an increase of 66 from 1959.

Resident Returns From Extended Global Tour

A three-month world tour aboard a Dutch liner has just ended for Mrs. Adele Wright Green. The veteran traveler, who has circled the globe three times, named Southern England and New Zealand as the places which held the most charm.

Mr. and Mrs. George Kraft of Puerta Vallarta, Mex., who pioneered in Desert Hot Springs in 1941, are the house guests of Mrs. Mary Loofbourrow. The Krafts, who are enjoying their retirement home in the tiny fishing village on the Bay of Banderas, will spend Thanksgiving with their family in Los Angeles before returning to Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Johnson of Vancouver, Wash., arrived here Saturday to spend the Thanksgiving holiday with their daughter and son-in-law, the Cliff Babins.

Sam Berger is making a successful convalescence from major surgery at the Los Angeles home of his daughter, Mrs. Vina Simon. Meanwhile Mrs. Berger's sister, Ruth, wife of the noted artist, Nota Kosloski, has arrived from Chicago for an extended stay at the Berger's Palm Lodge. Her husband plans to join her here early in December.

The John Taylors are home again after spending a week in Independence as the houseguests of Rev. and Mrs. Byron Haines. A highlight of their trip was a tour of Death Valley, which Mrs. Taylor described as an "awesome but beautiful sight."

First time visitor to Desert Hot Springs is Mrs. William McGowan of South Bend, Ind., who is enjoying a week's vacation with her sister and brother-in-law, the James G. Packs.

Mrs. Sarah Elster, a long time member of the Founders Chapter of Angel View, is confined to the Loma Linda Hospital in Loma Linda.

Mrs. Pauline La Liberte entertained friends at a dinner party at her home Tuesday night. Mexican food was enjoyed by Glory and Ted Monday of Palm Desert, the Sam Mooneys and Mike Arsulich of Desert Hot Springs.

The O. C. Murphys — Mrs. Murphy is the organizer and director of the Desert Hot Notes orchestra — returned last week from four months of trailer living. A stay in Yellowstone was followed by several weeks at Gold Beach, Ore., where the couple found the salmon fishing to be excellent.

A month-long visit with family and friends in New York City, Washington, D. C., Laurel, S. C. and St. Petersburg, Fla., ended last week for the John S. E. Youngs. En route home they stopped off in Coronado to pick up Young's mother, Mrs. Eleanor Young of Ocean Grove, N. J., who had been visiting her son, Captain J. B. Young, USN, Ret., and his family. Mrs. Young plans to remain here for several weeks.

Sunday night the Youngs were guests at a dinner hosted by Mrs. Charles Meadows at her Cholla Gardens home. Present also was Mrs. Meadows' house guest, Mrs. Al (Rose) Johnson of Hutchinson, Kan., a former resident here, who is receiving a big welcome from her many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Hans Kleinjung attended the opening of the Shadow Mountain Club in Palm Desert on Saturday night. Sharing their table were the Bradley Thompsons and Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Lewis of Palm Desert.

Fifteen members of the Pied Pipers were on hand to sing happy birthday to their president, Mrs. Edwin Jacobson at a surprise luncheon hosted by Mrs. Jack Morey at her home on Tuesday. The beautifully decorated birthday cake was the work of Nada Gwartney.

Mrs. Ruby Bones is receiving congratulations on the birth of identical twin grandsons born to her daughter and son-in-law, the Warren S. Strebles Jr., of Desert Hot Springs, Nov. 11 at the Desert Hospital. The babies, whose combined weight at birth was 13 lbs., have been named Eric John and Patrick Lee.

Paternal grandparents are Mrs. Betty Simmons and Warren Strebles Sr., of Palm Springs. The boys are also the grand-nephews of George Strebles and Councilman Earl Strebles of Palm Springs.

Inhale Uranium Gas
OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (UPI)—The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) said Tuesday that 13 workers at the AEC's gaseous diffusion plant here may have inhaled depleted uranium in gas form. Officials said the uranium gas is not radioactively dangerous but is Strebe Jr., who is stationed with the Navy at Midway, will plane home later in the month on a two-week leave.

Newest member of the Desert Hot Springs SandWitches is Mrs. Ruth Haidet, who was welcomed into the club at a luncheon meeting held Monday at the home of Mrs. Hans Kleinjung. A requirement for membership is proficiency in sandpainting which Mrs. Haidet has acquired under the tutelage of Mrs. Betty Lukomski.

The Phillip Foberts entertained a small group of friends at dinner at the Highlander Restaurant on Saturday night. Guests included the Ted Spellazas, the Don Hulberts, the Cliff Babins, Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Bister, the "Red Eds", Mrs. Charles Meadows, and the Joseph Lukomskis of Desert Hot Springs, and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Johnson, Vancouver, Wash.

Studies Indicate Russian Superbombs Fairly 'Clean'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Foreign dispatches suggest that the Russian superbombs may have had comparatively little radioactive fallout.

This possibility is inferred from the reported absence or scarcity of uranium-237 in Soviet fallout analyzed in Great Britain and Japan. U-237 is a short-lived artificial radioactive substance, the telltale trademark of one kind of dirty bomb.

But American scientists say it is impossible to tell from the meager published reports whether the 25-megaton Soviet bomb tested Oct. 23 and the 55-60 megaton bomb exploded Oct. 30 were clean or dirty.

This may not become known to the public until the bulk of the Russian fallout starts coming down from the high atmosphere next spring or is reported by Public Health Service monitors.

The results of U.S. military analysis of Russian fallout from the lower atmosphere are a closely guarded secret.

HAS AUTO PROBLEMS

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — Gov. Gaylord Nelson's car brings him only trouble when others get behind the wheel.

Nelson was admonished by a judge two weeks ago for leaving the keys in his car. A youth took the auto as a prank. Tuesday the governor forfeited a $10 bond on a charge of allowing an improperly equipped vehicle to be operated by his press secretary William Fairfield. The brakes on Nelson's car failed after Fairfield parked it.

The Classic Is Everyone's Responsibility

Palm Springs residents, the merchants, the hotel and apartment house owners, those who sell services, in fact, every citizen, have before them an offer of the greatest returns on a nominal investment ever presented.

The Third Palm Springs Golf Classic is scheduled for Jan. 31 to Feb. 4, 1962, and our support of the famed event will determine whether it will continue to be the Desert Empire's top annual attraction or be lured away by Phoenix, Tucson or another of the cities so fully aware of its importance.

The returns involved in the event are not intangible but constitute sound United States money, money that can be seen and will go far toward enhancing our economy. That may sound like a selfish look at an event which attracts world-wide attention but it is a matter-of-fact view. The Classic costs money, it is expensive and it went into the red the first year. The 1960 tournament wiped out the deficit but the support of those who received the greatest benefit of the 1959 and 1960 Classics was not in proportion to their returns.

Forgetting for the moment the publicity for the desert area which, in itself, is worth millions and just looking at the hard cash—the Classic will bring approximately 20,000 people into town and these people must eat, have places to sleep and will need services. Dan Thornton, former governor of Colorado and a Classic enthusiast, cited some figures such as 420,000 meals, more than a million gallons of gasoline and other automotive needs, even the need for services of professional men and countless other services.

The Desert Empire, known far and wide as the Winter Golf Capital of the World, is the logical place for this, the richest and most famous of tournaments. All that its citizens have to do is to support it. The investment, as noted above, is a small one for the returns involved.

There are not only the hard cash returns from the throngs coming into the desert to see the tournament for the five days but there are untold dollars in publicity value through news dispatches on sports pages across the nation and overseas and the television broadcasts. These will pay off far into the future to business and professional people of the Palm Springs area.

The tournament on five of our sun-drenched golf courses comes at a time when much of the rest of the nation will be socked in by winter storms. The value in presenting our desert to millions across the nation can be realized if you envision snowbound citizens seeing our grassy, palm tree-studded courses while watching the tournament on television and then glancing out of their windows at snowdrifts and blizzard-swept streets.

This publicity alone has other southwestern cities gazing at us with envy. They would give anything to lure the event from us. And they may succeed if too many of us continue with the "let George do it" attitude.

Notices have gone into the mails offering an opportunity to join in the advance sale to aid in insuring the success of the event. There is an opportunity for all to take advantage of a worthwhile bargain in the purchase of season tickets or badges as Christmas gifts or for your own use.

Last year, the response here was far below what it should have been. It should not happen again.

The Palm Springs Golf Classic is, to put it in sports vernacular, Big Time. To keep the title as it is now and not let the event slip away to wind up with some other city's name before the words "Golf Classic" it is up to each and every one of us, to pledge our support and then give it, wholeheartedly.

We CAN lose the Classic but we CAN'T lose if we keep it.

(Hemet News)

In San Francisco recently three candidates for public office showed up at a predominantly Italian-American crowd. The first gave his entire speech in Italian. The second made about half of his talk in Italian. The third apologized, and said he would have to talk American. Whereupon the crowd whooped its applause and gave him a standing ovation. Reason: Most were second and third generation Americans who knew little if any Italian.

This should be a very clear lesson for politicians. The old appeals to the voters aren't as appealing as they used to be. These days it's best to talk — and to think, and to act — American.

HOLMES ALEXANDER:

JFK Leaves Little Time to Learn

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — "It is equally important," said President Kennedy in announcing the 12-city road show called the White House Regional Conference, "that Federal officials seek the views of State and local officials, as well as those of interested individuals, in making plans for future development."

As a past master of politics, the President could hardly have expected tightly-scheduled emissaries, in compressed seminars where the platform speakers hardly paused for breath, to learn anything from the audience.

At the two-day St. Louis conference, for example, there were 53 panel participants, 33 topics listed for discussion, and two press conferences. There were a double header evening session, at which Secretaries Hodges and Ribicoff gave out the Democratic gospel, a couple of intimate dinner parties at which to reward the faithful and jolly up local dignitaries, and 33 hours of working session at which Federal do-gooders talked of their shop work under four general headings. These were Full Employment and Economic Growth, Opportunities for Cities, Opportunities for Senior Citizens, and Opportunities for Youth.

Three Part Sessions
This is not a curriculum conducive "to seek the views" of the audience at least not in the way that the President had in mind. The sessions which I sampled were roughly one-part Demo-Labor-Social Worker, one-part curiosity seekers and interested persons, and one-part Republican-Private Enterprises.

That is, if the Democrats brought their brainwash material, the Republicans brought the towels and cleansing fluid to sop it up. On the first day HEW Secretary Ribicoff, who is showing a proximity fuse temper when put under pressure, was reciting the Democratic party line on medical care of the aged when he suddenly found his horns locked with those of a local celebrity of opposite political persuasion.

Dr. R. O. Meuthen, past President of both the St. Louis and Missouri Medical Associations and reigning President of the local Blue Shield Insurance Plan, told the Secretary he was all "wrong" and that the Administration legislation was "a direct affront to the dignity and independence" of old folks.

It's very unlikely that the New Frontiersmen intended to collect such opinions as these. It is also probable that the Democrats, whose party usually has soft pickings when catering to the underprivileged, never expected to find Republican guerrilla troops planted in this innocent-looking environment. But the St. Louis sessions soon proved to be no place for the dove — of peace-and-platitude role for which the Democrats had rehearsed.

Primed Weapons
The Republicans, in truth, were there with primed weapons and they were loaded for bear, not for anything so frail as doves. At the Urban Renewal seminar, a heckler wanted to know why the President hadn't issued an executive order to ban discrimination down the line in Federal housing. I later interviewed a GOP Negro leader, Grant Reynolds, who once ran for Congress against Democratic Representative Adam Clayton Powell. Reynolds, a lawyer and Urban Renewal promoter in New York, complained that the speakers gave a false impression that Federal help is the whole answer to Urban Renewal, whereas most of the initial money and thought comes from localities. Reynolds said for quotation:

"These speakers proceeded to lecture us on the glories of the Kennedy Administration and to tell how the Housing Act of 1961 had solved the housing problems. The session was largely devoted to canned speeches by civil servants who should have been in Washington earning their pay."

The Republican big guns delivered even more damaging blasts. Reporters on the scene had many assertions and admissions from Democratic friends to the effect that these sessions were intended to get the American peoples' minds back on domestic affairs and off international calamities. But it was Congressman Tom (R., St. Louis) who made the direct accusation of something sinister. Curtis declared that a group of White House conspirators, including Ted Sorensen, Larry O'Brien and Ed Murrow (who supposedly advises on getting the American viewpoint over to foreigners), had planned St. Louis sessions with nothing in mind except to beat the bushes for support of the Kennedy programs in Congress and to lull uneasy persons who were wondering if Mr. Kennedy will ever win an engagement on the foreign front.

It is a very serious charge of spending public money for political promotion and popular deception.

THIS SIDE Of The Sun

R. F. "Phat" GRAETTINGER

In recent years
Men have worn many hues
But now I'm told
It's re-birth of the blues.

Sitting in a welter of pages from the Sunday papers, a vividly colored section caught the eye. It was about the new trend in men's styles. Picked it up and read it.

THAT PROVES that my tastes do not run exclusively to (a) Traffic-autos on streets, horses and trains on tracks; (b) Football, baseball, kindred sports, demanding much action conducive to muscle-building such as the push-ups practiced in quitting an easy chair before TV and walking to the refrigerator; (c) Perusing light literature like Playboy and the Atlantic Monthly.

Fashions also interest me. I like to see how far out of line I am.

MAIN ARTICLE in the section was entitled: "Re-Birth of the Blues." It set forth that after some years of varied shades in men's clothing, shoving the blues into the background, that hue is bouncing back.

That made me think of the blue serge era. You oldtimers will recall that. When you bought your first one, you felt that you had it made.

BIGGEST DRAWBACK was that in those days on a cub reporter's salary, I couldn't afford what we termed then as "tailor-made" cigars. I had to roll my own and that rough material trapped and held the spilled flakes of tobacco so that by the day's end, the suit of blue was brown-speckled.

Anyway, the new blue suits, Mediterranean blue so I'm told, are of the smooth modern material. Nothing clings except when you miscalculate with a spoonful of soft-boiled egg.

NOT COUNTING the advertisements, there were 69 pictures of men showing the new styles. Taking a snap census I found that 39 were wearing neckties, 29 were not. That doesn't add up but, being honest with a newsman's fetish for accuracy, I didn't count the picture of the man modelling a bathrobe. I did count all of the sweated guys.

I once had a rackful of neckties. They were of the old, wide variety, mostly bright red or yellow or a combination, red stripes on yellow or yellow on red. Then I got married.

WENT TO LOOK for a certain red tie some years later and found a new assortment of somber-hued, narrow ties there. Being in the midst of preparing to go to watch the galloping at Santa Anita, I yelled:

"Where's my red necktie? The one I was wearing when Sea Gooing paid $162.39 for $2?"

"That was years ago and you've worn that tie every trip to the track since. It was frayed, spotted and ragged and away out of style. I gave all of those old wide numbers to the garbage gentlemen. Along with your 'lucky' shoes that outlived Adlai Stevenson's."

I haven't even come close since.

BEASTLY HEADACHE

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Dear Abby...

DEAR ABBY: My wife has been very much over-weight for the past five years. In spite of my efforts she has refused to do anything about it. Several months ago my mother suggested I give her a hard time, call her "baby elephant" and pay a lot of attention to women with nice figures. I did this for about six months without results.

Finally, my wife packed up and left. Now she tells me she wants a divorce so she can marry a man who "likes" fat women. I love her very much and would take her back if she weighed 300. How do I get her back? —BACKFIRED

DEAR ABBY: Court her with flowers, telegrams, phone calls and promises. If this doesn't work—ask your mother.

DEAR ABBY: I am 16 and want to know something. This has happened twice to me with two different boys and I am not sure what to do about it. When a boy takes you out and says he has had a great time and promises to call you on a certain day at a certain time and then doesn't call, what should you say to him the next time you see him? —DISAPPOINTED

DEAR DISAPPOINTED: Don't mention his broken promise. He obviously "forgot," didn't care or his immaturity is showing. In any case, he's not worth worrying about.

DEAR ABBY: How can I keep my husband's family from begging practically everything I own? For example, my mother-in-law will say, "I'll be glad when you get a new living room suite so I can have your old one." (I had not mentioned getting a new one.)

Also a sister-in-law announced, "When you get through with that purse, don't throw it away. I want it."

I made new drapes for my living room and stored the old ones in a box in my attic, thinking I might use them later for something else. My mother-in-law and two of her daughters jumped on me to get the old drapes. I felt guilty saying "I was keeping them," so I finally gave them up. All the relatives who beg things from me are better off financially than I am. How can I keep them off my back? —CALL ME SELFISH

DEAR SELFISH: It is your privilege to "store" things if you wish. You need the courage to speak your mind. When you are asked for something, reply, "I'll let you know when I am ready to discard it." And don't feel guilty.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of this paper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

SUNAIR

Family Visitors Arrive For Thanksgiving Holiday

Mrs. June L. Harrison is visiting with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Joiner at their home on Melrose Drive. Mrs. Harrison arrived over the weekend and plans to return to her home in Los Angeles after the Thanksgiving holidays.

Mrs. Katherine Burger, who was a houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Magee last week, left Monday for her home at Park La Brea in Los Angeles.

After spending last week at the Sunair Terrace, Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Earley returned to their home in Whittier. Mid-week guests included Ray Hammack and E. S. Bennett from Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bond from Atherton, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Dean McGaughey, who returned to their home in Laguna Beach following a five-day desert visit. At the Sunair Terrace for the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Clarke from Corona Del Mar, Mr.

and Mrs. Marvin L. Ingalsbe and children from Sunnyvale, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Caldwell of Los Angeles and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd O. Oliver from Woodland Hills.

Here from Silverton, Ore., Mr. and Mrs. William L. McGennis are spending another winter at the Palos Verdes Apartments. Mr. and Mrs. Ray H. Burger arrived Monday from their home in San Luis Obispo and will be here a week and Mr. and Mrs. Angel De La Torre of Highland Park, Ill., are at the Palos Verdes for a ten-day visit. Congressmen Should Get Medals

WASHINGTON (UPI) — When Congress returns to duty next January, I think it should consider creating a new medal or ribbon as a means of honoring some of its members.

I have in mind a decoration that a lawgiver could wear on his lapel to show that he had been wounded while traveling on an official junket during the congressional recess.

It would be patterned in an obscure way after the military's Purple Heart decoration for servicemen wounded in action. Perhaps we could call it "The Order of the Purple Bruise."

Most people probably don't realize it, but our lawmakers face many risks when they take to the open road at the end of a legislative session. It is only fair that they receive some recognition for their bravery.

Hazards Pointed Out

A couple of the hazards they might encounter were pointed out in news dispatches last week.

In one, a House member was reported to have been cuffed by a pet lion while visiting the palace of Ethiopian Emperor Haile Selassie. No injuries resulted, but he could have been devoured.

In the other, Navy Secretary

John Connally was gashed over the eye by a rifle tip while inspecting an honor guard in Austin, Tex. Connally, of course, is not a member of Congress, but the same thing could very well happen to our legislators.

I also read that a congressman who was attending the Folies in Paris got up on the stage during one evening's performance. He was not harmed, but suppose he had tripped over the footlights and fallen into the orchestra pit.

Then there was the group of congressmen who were kept waiting by actress Elizabeth Taylor on a movie set in Rome. All sorts of accidents can happen on a movie set.

Flirt With Danger

Everywhere they go, on land, sea and air, the congressional travelers flirt with danger. The wonder is that more of them aren't cuffed by lions or gaffed by honor guards.

Each time that a lawmaker rides out to view the pyramids in Egypt he runs the risk of falling off a camel. Some go by auto, and if they have an Egyptian driver the peril is magnified.

They cannot even attend diplomatic receptions in the countries they visit without taking the chance of being spiked by a lady's heel. Oftentimes, the punch is spiked, too, and that can be disastrous.

One group recently returned told of staying in a hotel in which each bed was equipped with a can of flea powder.

My heart goes out to these intrepid adventurers which is why I say that nation should strike a medal as a means of showing our gratitude. Just paying their travel expenses is hardly enough.
